Court Frees 13 Nazi Leaders

Hitler's Top Brass Acquitted

Decision Ends 9 Month Trial

NUERNBERG, Germany — (AP) —An American war crimes court today acquitted 13 of Adolf Hitler's top military commanders of plotting to launch World War II.

The three-man court, completing the nine-months trial of three field marshals, five generals, one admiral and four lieutenant-generals, ruled they had not been Germany policy makers.

Since the international tribunal convicted the highest Nazis, no other defendant has been convicted of planning aggressive war.

The defendants are:

Field Marshal Wilhelm Von Leeb, 72, accused of being active in Hitler's early plans for the invasion of Czechoslovakia, Poland, the low countries and France.

Field Marshal Hugo Sperrle, 62, commander of the "Condor Legion" in Spain in 1936 and 1937 and commander of the air fleet which bombed London in the 1940 blitz.

Field Marshal Georg Karl Friedrich Von Kuechler, 67, commander of the 18th Germany army in the 1940 invasions of The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg, and of Russia in 1941.

Gen. Hermann Von Hoth, 63, commander of the 15th Motorized corps in the Polish and Netherlands invasions.

Gen. Hans Reinhardt, 61, commander of the Fourth Panzer division in the Polish invasion.

Gen. Hans Von Salmuth, 59, chief of staff of Army Group B.

Gen. Karl Hollidt, 38, charged with being one of the planners of the Polish and Yugoslav invasions.

Adm. Otto Schniewind, 60, commander of the North Sea fleet.

Lieut. Gen. Karl Von Rouques, 68, charged with killing prisoners of war.

Lieut. Gen. Hermann Reinecke, 60, principally charged with issuing orders that Russian prisoners of war be executed for political reasons.

Lieut. Gen. Walter Warlimont, 54, military envoy to German troops in Spain as leader of the "volunteers corps" in 1936. He was accused of personal responsibility for ordering that Allied commandos in Africa and Europe "be slaughtered to the last man, even if they are soldiers in uniform, armed or unarmed, in battle or flight."

Lieut. Gen. Otto Woehler, 54, accused of murder and enslavement of prisoners of war.

Lieut. Gen. Rudolf Lehmann, 57, judge advocate-general of the Wehrmacht.

A 14th defendant, Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz, 64, jumped to his death the day the trial opened.

The court is composed of presiding Judge John C. Young, former chief justice of the Colorado supreme court; Judge Winfield B. Hale of the Tennessee Court of Appeals; and Justice Shaw W. Harding of Franklin, O., asst. attorney general.

Employes Get Time Out to Vote

For the first time in a number of years, city and county offices will be closed at noon on election day.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, said today he had met with the county commissioners and they had agreed to the early closing to give city and county employes time to vote.

State offices in Mansfield will remain open all day. The state liquor store, however, will be closed, and in accordance with state law, bars will be permitted to sell only 3.2 beer until one hour after the polls close. At 7:30 p. m. the restrictions will be lifted.

Jews Reject U. N. Order To Withdraw

Reply Made To Mediator Bunche

PARIS — (AP) — Israel rejected today the acting Palestine mediator's order to withdraw its forces from newly won control points on the Negev front in southern Palestine.

Israel declared the United Nations Security Council's cease fire order of Oct. 19, "does not imply an absolute injunction" that Jewish forces be pulled back to the positions they held on Oct. 14.

The question of withdrawal, Israel contended, is one to be negotiated.

The reply was made in a letter to the mediator, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, of the United States, from Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok.

A member of Bunche's staff said Bunche would lay the reply before the security council tomorrow.

"It will be up to the council to decide what it means," the staff member said.

Shertok quoted the council cease fire order. He emphasized the part reading: "After the cease fire the following conditions might well be considered as the basis for further negotiations."

Shertok declared the withdrawal of both Egyptian and Israeli forces to positions held before the recent outbreak of fighting in the Negev was one of the points to be negotiated.

Junior High Teams Battle For Title

The climax of the junior high school football season will come at 8 p. m. today when the John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed teams meet for the city championship at Arlin field. Ideal weather was promised.

More than 5,000 students and fans are expected to witness Mansfield's biggest inter-city sports event which includes an elaborate half-time program. Bands and majorette corps of the two schools will participate.

John Simpson has won the city title six of the eight years since the game was inaugurated. Appleseed, however, is undefeated in seven games this year while Simpson has a mediocre record of two victories and three defeats.

Girl Saves Two As Trailer Burns

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Attractive, 16-year-old Ruth Ann Lloyd was credited today with saving her two infant nieces from burning to death in their Columbus house trailer. Sheriff's deputies said the girl fought her way twice through smoke and flames to carry out Connie Ray Garner, two, and Barbara Ann Garner, eight months.

MITCHUM SUED

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Robert Mitchum, already awaiting trial on a charge of violating the narcotics law, was sued yesterday for trespassing.

French Take More Mines

PARIS — (U.P.) — Troops and police seized three more mines from Communist-led strikers in northern and southern France today while saboteurs struck for the first time at railroads.

Government forces occupied the Blignieres pit and the Denain mine station in the northern mining belt soon after dawn. Strike pickets did not resist.

Other forces in St. Etienne in the central coal basin took over the Big Tissot pit without opposition.

The Communist - controlled Confederation of Labor (CGT) called for other sections of French labor to support the 24-day old coal strike and received support from dock workers at Rouen.

The rail sabotage was reported from Marseille. The report said the locomotive, tender and baggage car of a miners' train were derailed by removal of a rail at a tunnel entrance.

No one was killed or injured in the train derailment.

JUST RUINS—This is all that's left of the tenant house on the Maxwalton farm on State Route 39, two miles south of Mansfield. The building burned yesterday when fire broke out in the attic due to a defective chimney. H. R. Heinberger, who lived with his wife and small daughter in the house, surveys the smoking ruins. "Mitzi," Heinbergers' little cocker spaniel, looks soulfully over the ruins.

4 In Family Stricken Ill

Food Poisoning Believed Cause

The mysterious illness of four members of a Pavonia family was being investigated today by county health officials.

Jerald Ruckman, 28; Mrs. Ruckman, 23, and their two children, Jerrilynn, 6, and Robert Allen, 1, were admitted to the hospital yesterday after becoming ill.

They appeared to be the victims of food poisoning and the family physician called in the health department to make an investigation, health officials said. Dr. Harry Wain, city-county health commissioner, said he had been requested to check the possibility of food poisoning.

He said that the health department had taken samples of water, milk and other food from the family home which the family may have eaten before becoming ill. The samples have been sent to the state health laboratory at Columbus for analysis, Dr. Wain said.

The Ruckmans were expected to be released today from General hospital.

Two Die In Train Wreck

UHRICHSVILLE — (U.P.) — Two crewmen were killed and 11 persons were injured early today when an east-bound Pennsylvania railroad passenger train was derailed after hitting a truck near here.

The dead were identified as G. C. Aley, 55, of Pittsburgh, the engineer, and C. A. Darr, 45, of Ingram, Pa., the fireman.

The Twin Cities hospital here said three persons were admitted for treatment. Only one, Gregory Karabanic, 27, of Pittsburgh, driver of the truck, was described as critical.

Eight persons were treated at the scene.

Maxwalton Residence Leveled

House Burns While Gossips Hold Phone

While two women refused to give up their visiting on a country party line yesterday afternoon so that help from the Mansfield fire department could be summoned, fire destroyed the house and warehouse at Maxwalton farm on State Route 39 southeast of the city.

H. R. Heinberger, tenant farmer, told firemen his wife was unable to call for help for several minutes after the blaze was discovered.

It wasn't until Mrs. Heinberger started to cry that one of the women said: "I guess we'd better get off the line." Mrs. Heinberger added that the women didn't actually hang up until they agreed to call back and wished each other well.

Mrs. Heinberger and their infant daughter were forced to flee the burning home after firemen were summoned. By the time the alarm was sounded the fire was out of control, he said. Firemen were handicapped by the lack of water.

Firemen said a defective chimney caused the blaze. Mrs. E. R. Hartman, owner of the farm, and Wallace Campbell, farm manager, were out of the city at the time of the fire. The 10-room house and the two-story warehouse were insured, Heinberger said.

It took one engine from the Central station less than 10 minutes to reach the farm, but by the time the fire was discovered, the entire attic was on fire. When the firemen arrived part of the floor had already collapsed.

PUMP CISTERN DRY

The fire fighters laid 650 feet of hose from the house to a cistern but pumped that water source dry in 10 minutes. They did not use the water in the engine booster pump, conserving that to spray on a nearby machine shed that was threatened for a time by the intense heat.

Heinberger and his brother-in-law, Lloyd C. Bishop, saw the fire as they were returning to the house for lunch.

They rushed into the building, and while Mrs. Heinberger tried to get the women off the phone, managed to save a refrigerator and part of the bedroom furniture.

"When we got upstairs," Heinberger said, "we could see the flames eating through the bedroom ceiling and we could not make a second trip upstairs.

He said a new washing machine, a piano, all the other furniture and 175 jars of fruit that Mrs. Heinberger had put up recently were lost in the blaze.

Sitting glumly by the ruins, wondering what it was all about, was the Heinbergers' little cocker spaniel, "Mitzi."

Super Highway Meet Scheduled

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — The Ohio Turnpike committee said today that it would meet here Friday to plan its legislative campaign for privately financed, self supporting super highways in Ohio.

Japanese Like 'Pinch' Custom

TOKYO — (INS) — Pinching a woman in public will get you into trouble with the law — in Japan or practically anywhere else.

But not in Ito, fishing village southeast of Tokyo, when the local Shinto shrine holds its three-day annual festival.

On those days, men can pinch women's hips with impunity. All they get is an embarrassed giggle.

It's a custom based on age-long tradition, say the village elders. And the town's boys like it.

5 Nation Alliance Readied

Formal Request Next On Agenda

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Swift American action appears assured today once the five-nation Western European Union makes its formal request for a military alliance with the United States.

In fact, the rough draft of just such a North Atlantic security treaty already has been written, after secret and informal talks with the European countries. Barring some unexpected hitch, the final version is expected to go to the Senate within three months.

The aim of the projected alliance is to provide American and Canadian military guarantees for non-Communist Europe, with the Western European Union as a nucleus. The "union" countries are Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, and Luxembourg.

As part of this broad undertaking, defense department officials already are working with European military experts on plans for a program of mutual military help.

The council of the Western European Union, composed of the foreign ministers of the five nations, announced in Paris yesterday that it had reached complete agreement "on the principle of a defensive pact for the North Atlantic and on the next steps to be taken in this direction."

The first of these next steps, Paris reported, will be to have the ambassadors of the five nations in Washington formally ask the American government for such a treaty.

Chest Drive Nears End

With only one day remaining in the 1948 Community Chest campaign, a total of only $83,687 toward a goal of $122,635 was reported by workers at noon today.

The Red Feathers unit reported a total of $44,298 pledged and the Blue Stars unit $39,389.

The financial division, headed by Lee Powell, is the first division to go over its quota in the drive. The division reported a total of $5,386 on a quota of $5,200. There are still a few prospect cards to be reported in this division.

The Martin Steel Products company is the first big industry to report its quota in full. The company had a quota of $1,000.

Other big industries which reported their quotas in full are the Tappan Stove company and Barnes Manufacturing company.

Small industries which reported their quotas in full today include Art Rattan Works, Inc., Hartman Suspender company, Mansfield Metal Vault company, and the Globe Steel Abrasive company.

The Globe Steel has the highest participation of employes of any industry where volunteer contributions were made. Fifty-three of its 54 employes contributed. Industries which have civic funds made 100 per cent contributions.

Yosu Taken By Loyalists

(Compiled From Wire Services)

SEOUL — The abortive, radical-led Korean rebellion was crushed today just one week after it started with the recapture of Yosu by Loyalist forces.

The signal that all major resistance had been crushed came from a government cutter in this cryptic message:

"Yosu is ours. Prisoners have not been counted. Contact with friendly troops good."

Small bands of rebels are still holding out in the hills above Sunchon but the major revolt has been put down.

With the news that the southern revolt had been quelled, authoritative sources reported the United Nations will be asked to approve American occupation for an indefinite time.

The resolution has been prepared by China, and will be introduced with full U. S. backing.

Dewey Lashes 'Mud', Truman Jibes Polls

(By Associated Press)

Almost all the big political guns are blasting in Ohio.

President Truman was in Cleveland last night for the Democrats. He accused "poll happy" Republicans of rigging public opinion samplings and trying to lull voters into sleeping through next Tuesday's election.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, his opponent, goes to Cleveland tonight for the Republicans. In Chicago last night he accused the Truman administration of "mud slinging." Dewey speaks at 9 p. m. in Cleveland's Public auditorium. Mr. Truman will talk at the same time in Boston.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, Republican seeking reelection, spoke in Cincinnati last night. He declared that endorsement by his opponent, former Gov. Frank J. Lausche, of President Truman constituted endorsement of "all Mr. Truman's blunders."

Herbert spoke as much for Candidate Dewey as he did for Candidate Herbert. Ohio, always a doubtful but important state in political arithmetic, has 25 electoral votes at stake for Dewey or Truman.

And on other fronts, U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, who almost got to be the Republican presidential candidate, said in a statement the Truman administration had changed its mind five times about Palestine. The President's latest statement, said the Senate Republican policy leader from Cincinnati, is "as uncertain and wavering as his previous course."

(Mr. Truman Sunday night announced his support of the original proposal to partition the Holy Land subject to changes approved by Israel.)

SEES A "CINCH"

Also in Washington, an ex-boxer who is trying to beat veteran Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins, Ironton Republican, for the Tenth Ohio district congressional seat, told Democratic national headquarters that $100-a-month pensions for old people "would cinch Truman's election."

The adviser was Delmar A. Canaday, mayor of Pomeroy. He wanted to talk to national chairman J. Howard McGrath. McGrath was out of town so Canaday settled for Fred Kilguss, an assistant.

"They told me," he complained later, "they don't think it's possible to pay $100 a month.?"

Except for Mr. Truman's speech, most of last night's thundering was done by Republicans. Lausche appeared on the platform with the President and took a bow but did not speak.

Today, however, Lausche told Green county and Dayton rallies that Herbert's administration had given "almost nothing" of a huge windfall in tax collections to local governments.

"I make no phony promises," he said in his prepared speech, "but I give you my word that in my next administration the local governments will get aid and the taxpayer will get relief in the form of lower levies just as soon as warranted by facts."

Lausche declared that his administration gave 21.2 per cent of the net sales tax yield to local governments and that Herbert's was giving 14.5 percent.

Senator Taft told a Marion rally last night that President Truman had offered no alternative to high prices except price control and added, "We refused to give it to him."

HERBERT HITS REDS

In addition to reiterating previous criticism of Lausche's endorsement of the President and claims of having achieved unity in state government, Herbert said:

"Elect Governor Dewey and there will be no communists in the federal government. There are none in Ohio's government and there will be none as long as I am your governor."

Governor Herbert is to introduce Dewey at Cleveland tonight. He and Mrs. Herbert flew to Toledo this morning to board the Dewey campaign train and ride to Cleveland.

Other scheduled speakers are Rep. Frances P. Bolton of Cleveland and Senator Taft.

The cost of campaigning was reflected meanwhile in preliminary expense accounts of the opposing forces in the hottest congressional fight in the state in the Ninth district around Toledo.

More than $16,000 has been contributed so far to the campaigns of Rep. Tomer Ramey, Republican incumbent, and the Democratic candidate, Vice Mayor Thomas H. Burke of Toledo, a labor leader.

Speaking in New York at a rally of his Progressive party last night, Henry A. Wallace, declared his organization had prevented World War III and that the Progressive party would eventually force the Democrats and Republicans to merge.

Today he announced he would start a series of 33 speeches demanding direct negotiations between Russia and the U. S.

Ohio Expected to Poll Record 3,500,000 Votes

By H. H. DAUGHERTY

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Although candidates have complained that nobody seems interested, Ohio may send a record 3,500,000 people out election day to say who gets her 25 electoral votes.

The figure would leave a million other qualified voters at home, on the golf courses, or at work but it would top the previous high vote, turned out eight years ago, by 200,000.

A popular belief that Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican presidential candidate, and his running mate, Gov. Earl Warren of California, are certain of a large plurality probably has been the greatest factor in producing surface lethargy.

Nor has the ordinary voter seemed greatly aroused over the nip-and-tuck race between Republican Gov. Thomas J. Herbert and former Gov. Frank J. Lausche, his predecessor who is trying to return to the State House. Herbert ousted Lausche by 40,000 votes two years ago.

The greatest encouragement for the Democrats is the indicated large labor vote that is expected to go to the polls in support of President Truman and Democrat congressional candidates in protest against the Taft-Hartley law. Both the CIO-PAC and the American Federation of Labor conducted intensive drives to get their membership registered. Ohio does not elect a U. S. senator this year.

The importance of Ohio's 25 elector votes in the Truman campaign has been emphasized by his making two speech-making tours of the state. Governor Dewey makes his only appearance at Cleveland today.

Henry Wallace's Progressive party which won a place on the ballot by Supreme court order is expected to poll around five per cent of the total vote for president. The names of all 25 Wallace electors appear on the ballot as independent candidates and must be voted for individually.

Four years ago Dewey and his running mate then Ohio Gov. John W. Bricker, (now junior U. S. senator) carried Ohio over the late President Roosevelt by 11,530. In 1940 when Ohio cast its previous record vote of 3,376,239, Roosevelt carried the state by 146,366.

'Massillonitis' Rapped

Tyger Club Spikes 'Costly Show' Rumor

Officials of the Tyger club, Mansfield public schools booster organization, today definitely spiked false stories that the half-time band show at last Friday's Mansfield-Massillon football game cost from $3,000 to $8,000.

Actual cost of the show was about $400, Tyger officials said.

Importance was attached to the stories only because they seemed to emanate from teachers and pupils at Senior high school—whose athletic, forensic, and musical activities the Tyger club is seeking to assist.

A number of pupils were reported to have told their parents that teachers were complaining the $400-show" cost $3,000 while we are under-paid."

Earlier this fall the Tyger club raised approximately $14,000 by public donation to sponsor the band shows, to aid the glee club, debate teams, and other extra-curricular activities at Senior high, the two junior high schools and elementary units. A portion of the money has been earmarked for the Mansfield relays which attract hundreds of athletes to Mansfield every spring.

Discouragingly few requests for help have been received from the schools, the club spokesman said.

Tyger club officials were also perturbed today over what they described as the "negative thinking" which preceded the Massillon game. They called this annual attack of "Massillonitis" an unnecessary expectation of defeat which seems to permeate the community and the schools, resulting in a naturally disheartening effect on the football players themselves.

Tyger officials contrasted the spirit here with that of Massillon boosters who were confident and enthusiastic although smarting from a recent defeat by Alliance.

Massillon fans, incidentally, gave whole-hearted praise to the half-time "Mari Gras" last Friday. Luther Emory, managing editor of the Massillon Independent, wrote: "Mansfield gave one of the finest half-time shows ever seen on any gridiron and showed Massillon what a well-lighted field looks like."

Claim Reds Back Revolt

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The state department has received official reports indicating that the rebellion in south Korea "had been planned for some time" by communists, a department spokesman said today.

Press Officer Michael J. McDermott said reports from an American official at Sunchon — the center of the rebellion — disclosed that rebel forces took "unbelievably barbaric" actions in killing up to 500 police, rightists, Christians and "prosperous citizens."

The reports, McDermott said, show that the rebel forces hoisted the flag of the communist-dominated north Korean regime during their occupation of Sunchon.

The riots broke out there early last week.

"The abundance of printed north Korean flags indicated that the affair had been planned for some time," McDermott quoted the report. He did not identify the individual who went to Sunchon, except to say that he was an official of the American diplomatic mission in Seoul, the capital of southern Korea.

"He also learned that local leaders of the so-called south Korean Labor party, the principal communists front organization in southern Korea, were active during the rebel occupation," McDermott said.

"On Thursday, they organized the populace into a huge parade on behalf of the so-called People's republic of North Korea."

The Northern Korea Peoples republic has been set up in the northern zone of Korea occupied by Soviet troops. American forces occupy the southern sector of Korea where the rebellion started.

McDermott said the American who visited Sunchon on Sunday reported that the rebel occupation was "unbelievably barbaric with police tied together and murdered in rows."

He said "Rightists, Christians and prosperous citizens were similarly killed," and estimated that some 500 people were killed in Sunchon alone.

The report said the rebels apparently fled with vehicles and supplies after forces loyal to the South Korean republic, which has American backing, attacked them last Friday.

The report said no Americans were involved in the fighting.

MANSFIELD SCHOOLS
Must Be
Enlarged and Improved
• To Meet the Needs of Today
• To Equip Our Children
For the Future

The great increase in Mansfield's birth rate together with the unprecedented growth of our school population has made it vitally necessary to enlarge and improve our schools. The huge increase in the cost of building material has rendered the money voted in the previous Bond Issue inadequate. THIS BOND ISSUE IS TO FINISH THE JOB.

Here Is What the Proposed $2,250,000 Bond Issue Will Be Used For:

Bowman
An addition of 18 new classrooms at the east end of the building, making a modern 26 room school. This improvement includes a combination gymnasium and auditorium.

Brinkerhoff
The present Brinkerhoff building will be abandoned and combined with the Carpenter school to establish a new building midway between these two schools. The new school will have 13 rooms, and a combined gymnasium-auditorium.

Bushnell
Bushnell school, in the midst of an industrial and commercial area, will be abandoned and its pupils sent to the new Hedges, Newman and West Fifth Street schools.

Carpenter
Carpenter school will be combined with the Brinkerhoff school to form a new 13 room school somewhere between the present locations of these two buildings.

Hedges
Hedges school has a rather recent 8 room addition. The older section will be torn down and 11 new classrooms and other facilities added to make a modern 17 room school.

Prospect
A new 13 room building will be constructed. Prospect school has also absorbed the new pupils from South Boulevards, necessitating a new and larger building on this site.

Woodland
Construction of a 7 room addition at Woodland school is planned. Although this is Mansfield's newest school building every possible bit of space is now being used. A combination gymnasium-auditorium will also be built.

Maple Lake
Because of the shift of population a new 13 room classroom building will be erected south of Maple Street and west of Marion Avenue. This new school will care for some children in that particular area now in the Brinkerhoff district.

Senior High School
A new physical education plant is to be built. The lighting system in the classrooms is to be modernized and the cafeteria will be enlarged.

Junior High School
Recreation fields at Johnny Appleseed and John Simpson Junior High Schools are to be leveled off, improved and landscaped so they can be used.

Public Library
In order to meet the increased demands of registered book borrowers the library must have additional facilities and space. It is now working under conditions that were adequate in the early 1900's.

War Budget Could Only Mean Fight

Nation Now at Peacetime Limit

After the election there will come into the foreground of discussion of foreign policy the condition of the budget and its impact on the American economy. The whole relationship between East and West will be greatly affected by the decisions which the Dewey administration and the Congress decide to take, or are compelled to take by the acts of the Soviet government.

Thus far American rearmament and foreign aid have been supported in this country by the surplus of peacetime economy. Without controls and without rationing, but only by a high level of taxation and a considerable inflation, the American economy is providing about twenty billion dollars worth of goods and services over and above what the American people are themselves consuming.

This is just about the limit of what can be provided in a peacetime economy. American industries are, as the National City Bank's letter puts it, "in the aggregate turning out about all that the supply of labor and materials will permit."

Therefore, a substantial increase in the armaments program, additional sums for European military lend-lease, and for assistance to China, just mean a return to something like a wartime level of taxation and to the essential wartime controls over industry. Even now, with the present programs and after the recent tax cut, the current budget is in fact almost certainly unbalanced.

There is a phobable deficit of income as against outgo which approximates about two billion dollars. Our own defense establishment will probably be asking several billions more and foreign aid even if there is some reduction in the Marshall plan amounts will with military lend lease, be at least as big probably bigger, than it is this year.

The diplomatic consequences of this condition of affairs should be considered very seriously indeed in every foreign office.

The Kremlin first of all will need to understand them. What the Russians need most of all to understand is that we are now at the limit of what the American economy can provide by way of arms and foreign aid under a peacetime economy. But the American economy could provide much more if it were on a war footing. Though the public and the Congress will not want to go on a war footing they will be driven to it by an aggressive Soviet action in any part of the world or by provocation that appears to have no end.

So in deciding how they propose to deal with Dewey, the thing which Stalin and Molotov need most of all to weigh is whether they will push this country from a peace to a war economy. They do not have to fear that we shall use the atomic bomb in a preventive war; they can be confident that it will be maintained as a deterrent and as a reprisal against military aggression.

But if they are the realists they like to think they are they will fear anything which would push this country over the line between a peace and a war economy. For if that happened, there would be war. It would be impossible for this country to accept the restraints and the sacrifice of a war economy except in time of war. A totalitarian state might remain on a war footing without waging war a democracy like our own could not.

Russians Claim Original Berlin Air Safety Rules Void

New Attempt To Harass Airlift

Aerial Target Practice Slated

BERLIN —(UNS)— The Russians declared today that the original four-power agreement on Berlin air safety rules is void.

The announcement was viewed as a new attempt by Soviet occupation authorities to harass the western power airlift to the western sectors of Berlin.

The announcement on air safety rules was followed up with a now almost routine notification that the Russians intend to conduct target sleeve firing practice today at several points along the Bueckeburg-Frankfort corridor. The Russians named Perleberg, Kyritz and Elstall as points of danger.

It was contained in a statement which rejected a series of American and British charges that the Russians have been violating the established air safety regulations by conducting aerial maneuvers in the vicinity of the three corridors leading into Berlin.

Russia's controller at the Berlin air safety center released through the Soviet ADN agency a letter declaring the safety rules are not valid since they were not approved by the now defunct Allied Control council.

The Russian insisted that "the question of a four-power agreement on flight rules in corridors over the Soviet zone to Berlin still are pending."

This apparently was a reference to Soviet demands submitted at the last control council sessions for virtual Soviet domination of all corridor air traffic under the guise of air safety.

At the same time a new demand was made by the Soviets that the United States submit in advance schedules of all flights through the corridors.

The Russians said:

"Should these demands not be fulfilled responsibility for eventual flight accidents would fall squarely on the Americans and British."

America last July discounted submitting individual written flight notices. Instead the U. S. now merely posts the same information at the air safety center on a visual flight board.

Road Bids Considered

An award meeting was scheduled for this afternoon by the State Highway department in Columbus to consider bids received yesterday for construction of 3.7 miles of State Route 13, around Mansfield airport.

Low bidder was A. J. Baltes, Inc., of Norwalk, with a bid of $487,000. The state's estimate for the project was $559,000.

Other bidders were C. F. Replogle of Circleville, O., $493,551; and H. W. Holt and Son, Columbus, $562,789.

Richland county and the City of Mansfield have each contributed $25,000 each toward the construction. The federal government will pay half the total cost and the state the balance, minus the $50,000 contributed by Richland county and the City of Mansfield.

Richland county is providing the right-of-way for the project.

Lighting Bids Are Rejected

Richland county commissioners today rejected the five bids received last Saturday for putting in fluorescent lighting in the corridors and most offices of the court house.

Commissioners said the bids were too high. They said, however, they would readvertise for bids, to install such lights in the treasurer's and recorder's offices, and in the board of elections office, because of the large amount of clerical work carried on in those offices.

The bids received ranged from $13,460 to $21,853 for completing the wiring and installing of fluorescent lights in the corridors and all offices except the probate-juvenile court offices, the engineer's and auditor's offices, which already have the lights.

Club Backs School Levy

The Springfield Township Mothers' club is waging a spirited campaign on behalf of a tax levy for operation of the Springfield Township schools at Ontario.

Voters in the school district will ballot next Tuesday on renewal of a three-mill levy and the addition of three mills to the existing levy.

Spokesmen for the Mothers' club point out that school operating expenses have increased 70 per cent while income from local taxes has increased only 16 per cent.

The club is basing its campaign on the facts that the board of education has had to borrow money for the last three years to meet current operating expenses, that enrollment has increased at the rate of 50 pupils a year, and that salaries had to be increased to obtain new teachers and to retain those already employed.

The campaign also points out that the costs of transportation, text books, school supplies, and maintenance have climbed. At least two more teachers are needed for next year, and new buses are needed.

Deadline For Mail Ballots Thursday

First Shipload of Displaced Persons on Way to New York

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The first shipload of homeless Europeans coming here under the Displaced Persons program includes 491 Roman and Greek Catholics, 161 Jews and 68 protestants.

The displaced persons also include 75 Russian and Greek orthodox and 18 of unstated religion.

Listed for each DP was the "American sponsor" who pledged to the DP commission that he would provide a job and housing for one or more homeless Europeans. In most cases the sponsor will serve as employer.

Among the sponsors were Secretary of Army Kenneth C Royall, Washington columnist Stewart Alsop, and the Anti-Soviet Tolstoy foundation of Valley Cottage, N. Y., which was involved in the U.S.-Soviet dispute over the runaway Russian school teacher Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina.

News Story Helps Find Relative

Woman Reads of Brother's Death

A story in yesterday's News-Journal aided in locating Mansfield relatives of a man whose body was found in the Calumet river at Gary, Ind., police said today.

The body, identified as that of Ralph T. Rush, 42, will be returned to the Finefrock funeral home for services. Arrangements have not been completed.

A few minutes after receiving The News-Journal at her home, Mrs. William Henthorne, 117 Boughton avenue, read the story about the discovery of the body and notified police that she was the victim's sister. Meanwhile, police had located Clyde L. Turney of Mt. Vernon who is an uncle of the victim.

The only clue which led to Mansfield was a Chicago-to-Mansfield bus ticket found on the body.

Mrs. Henthorne who is taking charge of the funeral, has arranged for the return of the body to Mansfield today, to the Finefrock funeral home. Arrangements are incomplete.

Mr. Rush was born Dec. 6, 1906 in Knox county. Besides his sister and uncle, he is survived by three aunts: Mrs. Margaret E. Rush, Fredericktown; Mrs. Ella White of Huntington, W. Va., and Mrs. Carrie Turney of McCuen, Kan.

Rapist Gets 3 Years At OSR On Birthday

(By a State Correspondent)

MILLERSBURG—Probate Judge F. W. Fankhauser handed a Fredericksburg youth a birthday present yesterday of three years in the Mansfield reformatory for the Oct. 15 rape of a Holmes county housewife.

The youth, Harry Ober jr., heard the sentence passed on his 18th birthday in Justice court here.

Three other companions, John Duncan, 18, and Mahlon Hostetler, 32, of Fredericksburg, and Gene Weber, 21, of Cambridge, are being held in the Holmes county jail in default of $5,000 bond each pending action by a grand jury on the same charge.

Ober admitted in court that he not only was the youngest member of the quartet which went to the home of an Amish family in northeastern Holmes county and forcibly held a farmer while the men took turns attacking his wife, but that he was also the ring leader.

Judge Fankhauser, terming the case one of the most dastardly crimes in the annals of Holmes county, admonished the confessed attacker and said: "Only your extreme youth prevents me from sentencing you to life in prison." Ober missed a juvenile court hearing by one day. Had he been seventeen at the time of his trial, he would have been placed in the custody of juvenile authorities.

Ober's father was in court when he was sentenced. His mother is dead.

In court the defendant admitted attacking the woman while his companions held her husband and while her three children slept quietly in another room.

Girls Throng City Building For Hearing

City building employes, especially the males, rubbed their eyes in disbelief today as a bevy of nearly 50 attractive girls milled around the lobby waiting for the municipal court session to begin.

The girls, most of whom are beauty salon operators and workers had come to hear the case against Mrs. Mildred Guthrie operator of the Salon For Beauty, 22 Helen avenue, who is charged with permitting an unlicensed person to shampoo hair at her establishment.

The case was not heard today, however. Hearing was set for Nov. 4 after Mrs. Guthrie's attorney, John O'Donnell asked for a continuance.

Authoritative sources said that beauty salon operators all over the city had complained to the state division of cosmetology in Columbus alleging that Mrs. Guthrie employed the unlicensed shampooer.

A state inspector investigated the establishment and filed an affidavit in municipal court, charging that Mrs. Guthrie had violated the state law.

Hedges P-TA Stages Party

The Hedges Parent-Teacher association held a Halloween party at Hedges school following its regular meeting last night. More than 500 attended. The party was co-sponsored by the Mothers' club.

Games and contests were held. Dancing and accordion music were provided for entertainment. R. W. Phipps was program chairman, and a committee headed by Mrs. Phipps provided the refreshments.

At the meeting before the party the P-TA voted to endorse the $2,250,000 school bond issue and contribute to the campaign.

A total membership of 600 was announced.

Knackstedt New Fireman

Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison today announced the appointment of George E. Knackstedt, 144 Willow street, to the Mansfield fire department.

The 22-year-old Navy veteran is presently employed by the Ross Rug company.

He was appointed to fill the place left vacant by the resignation of David L. Cameron who was appointed on Oct. 15 but resigned six days later.

Rosen Sells Park Billiards

Harold Hazen, operator of the Arcade Cigar store, 25 South Main street, and Gayle Owings, Windsor road, have purchased the Park Billards on South Park street.

The partnership purchased the lease from Sol Rosen of Cleveland. The property is leased from Willis Wappner, owner of the building. Hazen declined to disclose the sale price, but when Rosen bought the business from Carl Letizia earlier this year, the reported sale price was $15,000.

Hazen said today that temporarily, at least, he would continue to operate the Varsity Cigar store in the Southern hotel building.

Sent To Jail On Morals Charge

Charles Augustus Buzzard, 22, of 201 South Diamond street, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail yesterday by Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer, on a plea of guilty to acting in a way to contribute to the delinquency of a 13-year-old girl in a theater Saturday afternoon.

He was charged with taking indecent liberties with the girl, the complaint said. The case of the girl, who was charged as a delinquent in that she had permitted boys to take indecent liberties, was continued for further investigation.

Mansfield YWCA Starts Drive To Boost Its Membership

The annual membership enrollment drive of the YWCA got underway last night at a dinner at the association building, attended by 50 workers. No goal has been set for the campaign which will continue through Nov. 5 but the "Y" hopes to increase its present membership of 1345 members by at least 100.

Mrs. H. H. Carter, chairman of the membership committee, conducted the business meeting which followed the dinner. She gave workers their kits containing prospect cards and materials.

Miss Agnes Kessler, executive secretary of the YWCA, was the speaker at the meeting.

She told the group that the "Y" was fulfilling its purpose and serving its members only when the membership includes women of all races, faiths and occupations.

She said that there is an important difference between electoral and associate memberships. Electoral members choose to share the responsibility for realizing the purpose of the YWCA, associate members do not. However, both join because they believe in the purpose, she added.

She urged the workers to contact all former members as well as new prospects.

Mrs. Maurice Lybarger was in charge of the dinner.

Other members of Mrs. Carter's committee are Mrs. Dale Channell, Mrs. Robert Horn, Mrs. Clark Ohl, Mrs. John Hoffman, Mrs. Marvin Cunningham, Mrs. Paul Bush, Mrs. Peter Mayer and Mrs. Arthur Grau.

Inspector Anthony A. Bosch of the Toledo Police Department Morals squad will be the speaker at the Lions club meeting at 6:30 p. m. today at the Mansfield Leland hotel.

Four new members have been initiated into the club. They are W. P. Feigenbaum, J. H. Evers, H. B. Bittenbender, and Earl N. Weyrick.

Vandals Break Car Windows

Halloween vandals were out in full force again last night. Police reported four complaints between 7 and 9 p. m., including two of broken car windows.

At 9 p. m. Philip Carpenter, Lexington and Paul Sowash, 142 Dawson avenue reported the front windows of their cars were broken while the autos were parked in front of Senior high school on West Park drive.

Reports of boys creating disturbances within the two hours came from Boughton avenue and West Temple court, West Fourth street and Weldon avenue, and West Fourth street, between Main and North Walnut streets.

Tool, Die Firm Incorporates

The Richland Tool and Die company, 252 West Sixth street, has filed incorporation papers with the secretary of state, it was announced today. One thousand shares of no par common stock were issued.

Drivers Cross Lines, Fined

The four drivers who crossed freshly painted center lines on Park avenue east and South Main street were fined $1 and costs each by Judge H. H. Schettler in municipal court today.

William J. Gladden, Cresthne, and Fred Williams, 305 Spring street, each were fined $10 and costs for driving on more than one-half of the highway.

Gordon Williams, Amoy-Pavonia road was fined $50 and costs, $45 of which was remitted, for driving a car with license plates issued to another car.

Small Minority Speaks For Local 711

ALTHOUGH less than two per cent of the total membership was present and less than one and a half per cent voted for it, action of Local 711, United Electrical Workers (CIO), in banning communists from office is no doubt official. The union is accustomed to minority rule.

Observers noted that attendance at Sunday's meeting, when the action was taken, was "twice as large as usual."

Moreover, law-abiding Americans will heartily applaud this move to outlaw those who would overthrow the government by force—when and if the amendment to the union's constitution is implemented by action.

There is no intention here to discredit the action of Local 711. It has a heartening aspect in view of nationwide charges that the union is dominated nationally by communists "from top to bottom."

But there is no intention either, to ignore the fact that unless the union searches out possible communists and actually bars them from office, the amendment becomes only so many empty words, a smoke screen, and a typically "red" herring.

We have complete faith in the majority views and intent of the 6,000 Mansfield area men and women who make up Local 711. We have little faith in any minority of less than two per cent which rules any union, in city, state, or nation.

Officially, Local 711 has made a good gesture—and a brave one in view of the attitude of its parent, the International union, which has been openly and unrefutedly accused of communism. But the public will be much more impressed when the union proves it means business by action rather than words and when a representative percentage of the membership appears at meetings where vital decisions are made.

Kingsley Taft Fitted For High Court

VOTERS at next Tuesday's election will find on the nonpartisan judicial ballot the name of Kingsley A. Taft as candidate for a full term on the Ohio Supreme Court, and an estimate of his legal ability and experience accounts for the many endorsements his candidacy has received, not only in his home city of Cleveland but throughout the state.

Mr. Taft, who is not related to the Cincinnati Taft family, is regarded by those who know him, as conspicuously well-qualified by training and personal attributes, for a place on the state supreme court bench, and it is believed that, at the age of 45, he will bring both youth and intelligence to Ohio's highest court.

After completing his course in Amherst college in 1925 Mr. Taft was graduated from Harvard law school in 1928, and during his senior year was an associate editor of the Harvard Law Review—the highest recognition given for scholarship in that school.

His record of military service, for which he volunteered, extended in active duty from January 1943 to June 1946, in which year he was awarded the Army commendation ribbon with oak leaf cluster. It was in 1932 that Mr. Taft was elected to the state legislature from Cuyahoga county and he served during the troublesome years of 1933 and 1934, when the legislature was in almost continuous session.

A unique experience came in 1946, when he was elected to the United States Senate for the unexpired term of Harold Burton, who resigned following appointment as a Supreme Court justice.

Opposing Mr. Taft for judge on the state supreme court is Robert M. Sohngen, of Hamilton, now serving under appointment of former Governor Lausche after he had held the position of director of liquor control in the Lausche administration. Those who have knowledge of the qualifications of these two men are greatly inclined to favor the election of Mr. Taft.

Should Election Day Be Holiday?

ONE THING certain in advance about an election is that nowhere near enough voters will cast their ballots. Estimates of the qualified non-voters run as high as 30,000,000. Is there anything which might be done to reduce this appalling number?

One change that has been suggested is to make election day a public holiday. Time for voting is provided by law in many states, but that is not quite the same thing. Coal miners announced that they would not dig coal on election day; some other unions have also scheduled a holiday. They do this, it is said, partly to make it easier to vote, partly to stress the importance of the day.

On the continent of Europe elections are generally held on Sunday. Europeans feel that a country's future government is more important than any business which might be transacted on election day, and that no one should fail to vote on the pretext that he does not have time.

Both adequate time for voting and added stress on the importance of election day are desirable objectives. But it is questionable whether making the day a holiday would improve our election system. The general American idea of a holiday is a day suitable for an outing or other enterprise, a day on which there is nothing that really has to be done. A holiday of that sort might result in fewer votes rather than more.

Alabama Reflects South

By THOMAS L. STOKES

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Here in Alabama you find the very quintessence of the state rights movement, the name its gilt-edged financial and industrial backers prefer to dignify this southern splinter party and conceal some of its motives that redound to their private interests.

Here they really fixed up Harry Truman good and proper. There's no way to vote for the President of the United States on Nov. 2. His name is not on the ballot.

Consequently you can write this state off now for J. Strom Thurmond, the Dixiecrat candidate, who probably would have won it anyhow.

Governor Dewey will get lots of votes, but not enough, and Henry Wallace's support will be negligible.

Here, in bitter tirades against Harrry Truman, there crops up reference to his former association with the Pendergast machine in Kansas City. But Boss Tom Pendergast in his heyday never pulled off any disfranchisement on the scale in which it has been achieved by the silkhat bosses of the state rights party here.

It may be their last stand in this state, for there is considerable resentment which is growing, but which cannot be expressed balloc-wise until later.

There is a firm foundation of progressiveism in this state, as is exemplified in its two United States senators, Lister Hill and John Sparkman, who beat the Democratic old guard four years ago, respectively, in state-wide referenda.

It was fitting that the bolting southerners picked this city for their rump convention at which they nominated their candidates. For here is the symbol of its real motivation, rather than agricultural Mississippi, where the call was first sounded.

* * *

Old and New Clash.

HERE in this coal and iron capital of the South is the sharpest clash between the old and the new in industrialism. Here operate the southern overseers of great industrial enterprises, some of which have their roots in the east.

It is no secret that those eastern interests are very pleased to see the Democratic party split wide open and New Dealism squelched. Here is Tennesse coal and iron, casting a shadow of the east over this city and state. Here is the Alabama Power company, which was a pioneer in the fight against utilization in the public interest of the First World war's Muscle Shoals project which, despite the company's opposition and that of other great utility combines, flowered in the New Deal era in TVA. The so-called state rights movement was the perfect vehicle. The Confederate flag was hitched to it and off it went as the band played "Dixie." And skillful orators whipped up the mob. Birmingham is the appropriate captal for the New Confederacy.

The basic conflict in this state and the South was dramatized when Senator Hill held half of the Alabama delegation in the convention hall at Philadelphia in July as the other half walked out to start a new southern party.

Just what was needed to carry on the campaign was provided, full blown in President Truman's civil rights program. Senators Hill and Sparkman and other Democratic leaders of like mind ducked for cover in the storm of prejudice that was raised.

The National Democratic party leadership became timid also in the confusion. So no effort was made to get President Truman on the ballot after the Dixiecrats had excited the people to the point where they chose as electors men pledged to vote against him in the electoral college. This offers the best possible argument, if any more is needed, for abolishing the antiquated electoral college system.

Those who want to vote for the President, including many workers, farmers and Negroes, have no opportunity. Some just won't bother to go to the polls. Some will vote the regular Democratic ticket, which is the Thurmond ticket, hoping that something may come to the suit that Governor "Big Jim" Folsom says he is going to file to challenge the whole disfranchisement process.

Washington Calling

An Avoided Argument

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE gentle plea for unity sounds very strange against the background of the urgent Republican necessity of this final week of the campaign. That necessity is to win a majority in the Senate in order to organize the upper chamber.

The Republicans could make a powerful argument which would appeal to the independent voter. They could point out that with a Democratic majority key committee positions would be held by aging and reactionary southern Democrats. These tired bourbons could be expected to oppose all the promise the candidate seems to hold out.

But that argument is not being made. Or, at any rate, it is not being made by anyone with sufficient voice to carry it to the nation. Instead, the appeal for unity falls on the voters' ears with all the vigorous impact of a feather falling on velvet.

Strange as this may seem at first blush, the reason is not hard to find. It lies in the fact that Republican orators are going through the South proclaiming that the southern Democrat and the Republican are one and the same, brothers in the bond in purpose and performance.

This is, of course, for southern consumption. It is aimed at catching the electoral votes of those southern states which, thanks to the Dixiecrats, may end up in the Republican column. We find Senator Robert A. Taft saying in a campaign speech in Nashville, Tenn.

"Today the world has changed. The Truman party favors a complete control in Washington. The Republican party believes in freedom, and its position is not substantially different from that of most southern Democrats."

* * *

Would Please South.

IF THAT is what the Republicans really believe, then no independent voter will get very excited about saving the Senate for the Grand Old Party. To have the Democrats organize the Senate, with southerners in key posts, should be just dandy from the Republican point of view.

On the basis of the Taft formula, they would undoubtedly welcome Sen. Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee as chairman of the appropriations committee. McKellar is 79 years old. As the willing handmaiden of Boss Crump of Memphis, he has generally been on the side of reaction.

Chairman of the finance committee would be Walter F. George of Georgia, who is 70 years old. George is a scholar and a gentleman in the tradition of another day. But repeatedly he has served powerful private interests that have sought to keep the South in convenient economic bondage to the North.

Chairman of foreign relations would be Tom Connally of Texas, who is 71 years old. It is an understatement to say that he is too often tactless and high-handed in his conduct on the committee, needlessly irritating those of whom a sound, bipartisan policy depends.

Forty-six-year-old Thomas E. Dewey, who promises the clean sweep of a new broom, knows how to go to town on this if he were of a mind to.

He could show how these southerners get set on the escalator of seniority and stay there until it carries them up to key positions in which they can block and obstruct what does not please them.

But the odds are against Candidate Dewey hitting hard on this issue. It might offend southern voters and cost a few electoral votes thereby scaling down the electoral landslide so confidently expected by the men who have managed the Dewey campaign.

Southerners by their protest votes will increase the Dewey total. But it would be a mistake to count on southern support in the Senate after Nov. 2.

"It's this way, Walter," said the customer. "You already know you won't be paid. The other creditors won't know for sixty days."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Political Survey Through Middle West

By DREW PEARSON

EN ROUTE Through Midwest—Lieut. Col. Paul Douglas of Illinois, hard-hitting Democratic candidate for senator, is getting it from both the fascist right and the commie left.

The other day, G. O. P. Congressman Fred Busbey, one of the Chicago Tribune's trained seals, unleashed a diatribe at Douglas calling him a left-winger, a friend of the commies, and about every other political epithet he could think of.

The blast was so unfair that Busbey's patron saint, the Tribune, published an editorial halfway apologizing for its congressman.

Meanwhile Douglas is getting it in the neck from the other side. Several months ago, before Douglas entered the senatorial race, Bill Miller, Wallaceite leader of the Progressive party, approached Jake Arvey, Democratic leader of Chicago, with a proposal to run no Wallace candidates against local Democratic candidates.

"You've got some pretty good men running," Miller told Arvey, and we'll support 'em. But we want to know whom you're going to run for the Senate. If it's Douglas, we won't deal."

"Why not?" asked Arvey.

Miller hesitated. "We don't like him," he said.

"Well, what's wrong with him?" Arvey persisted.

"He's a red baiter," replied the leading Wallaceite. "He's always talking about the danger of communism."

In the end Arvey told Miller Douglas would stay in the race, so the deal was off.

Real truth is that Douglas is feared and hated by the extreme leftwingers because he knows their game. Enlisting as a private in the Marine Corps at the age of 50, Douglas rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel, was wounded, had a magnificent record. A former Chicago University professor and member of Chicago's city council, he stands head and shoulders ahead of the Chicago Tribune's Sen. Curly Brooks.

Note — A lot of people are going to split their ballots in Illinois and other midwest states next week.

Gillette Makes Comeback.

BACK in 1938, Harry Hopkins, son of an Iowa harness-maker and right-bower to FDR, flashed the signal that his chief in the White House would oppose the Democratic senator from Iowa for re-election.

The senator in question, silver-crested Guy Gillette, had opposed many Roosevelt policies and was put first on the list for FDR's famous purge.

Result: Iowans, boiling mad, went out of their way to renominate Gillette.

Later Guy, a Democrat, became the victim of Iowa's normal Republican swing, and went back to his fields of corn and his front porch. Today, with no machine to support him, little money, and a weak candidate at the head of the ticket, Gillette appears to be staging a comeback.

With the stamina of a truck driver, he has piloted his own car all over the state, talking wherever there is a crowd, indoors or out.

Iowans pride themselves on both their voting intelligence and their voting independence. It looks as if they would feature Dewey and Gillette at the head of their ballots next Tuesday.

* * *

Surprise In Kansas.

A MILD mannered ex-senator from Kansas is driving a tired second-hand Pontiac around his rock-ribber Republican state, speaking five times a day, drawing good crowds and making so many friends that his opponent is getting worried.

The ex-senator is George Magill, one of the few Democrats ever sent to Washington from a state where running for the Senate on the Democratic ticket is considered about as hopeless as running on the Republican ticket in Virginia. This year, while Virginia will probably vote Republican, certain midwestern states are likely to send Democrats to the Congress.

Magill's race is tougher than most — though not because he is running against ex-Governor Andy Schoeppel, whom Alf Landon once called "the errand boy of the big corporations."

Magill is getting some quiet support from certain of Senator Capper's faithful friends, sore over the way Capper was pushed out of the senatorial picture.

But the main factor helping Magill is the slipping price of wheat, plus an inane remark made by Schoeppel. Asked who was running against him, Schoeppel replied:

"I'm running against some Irishman and I can't think of his name."

A lot of Kansas farmers, however, know Magill's name and know it pleasantly. For when in the Senate, he co-authored the Pope-Magill farm bill providing for 90 per cent parity loans on wheat and other staple crops.

A lot of farmers are also getting wise to the fact that it was the 80th Congress that gutted the Pope-Magill bill by prohibiting the government from renting additional elevators to store grain. Thus the government cannot buy from the farmers.

So the Kansas race between tortoise Magill and hare Schoeppel may yield some surprises.

Assignment: America

Preparing To Squawk

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Shortly after the election, no matter who wins, a large squawk is slated to come from the Pentagon people who work under Defense Secretary James Forrestal.

It may even come from Forrestal in person.

It concerns what top-ranking military men believe to be an impossible financial situation for the forthcoming fiscal year.

They have been mumbling and grumbling about it, privately, for ten days now, and the only reason they have't come out with it officially is that they're afraid of being accused of campaign-eve politicking.

But once the voting's over, they aim to be heard.

Their gripe boils down to a couple of what they call conflicting points to wit:

The President has pared nearly five billon dollars off the total considered by the high brass to be an essential military budget for the next fiscal year;

Simultaneously—or almost so—he directed Forrestal to expand the reserves to an extent which apparently would be limited only by the wishes of the reserves themselves.

Pentagon chieftains say that the two points simply are incompatible. However, one of the chief reasons they are not speaking aloud about it until after election is that they feel President Truman is only partially responsible for the dilemma—and they are not at all sure that Governor Dewey would differ with him on the issue.

With that in mind, they're waiting until their complaint can bear no possible taint of politics.

Also, considering that there might be a change in administration, they see no point in squawking to the little man who might not be there when the next fiscal year rolls around.

But their case is all prepared, no matter who the judge and jury may be.

* * *

Not Enough Money.

IN THE first place, they wanted approximately twenty billion dollars for the next fiscal year's defense operations. They had been making that point clear for some time—although this correspondent reported about a month ago that they probably wouldn't be granted more than fifteen billion, at the most, in the initial estimate.

That prediction turned out to be absolutely correct. The President announced a few days ago that he would hold next year's military budget to fourteen billion 400 million dollars.

Since they had suspected that sucha thing might happen, that announcement, in itself, would not have caused any great consternation among the defense chieftains. But there was more.

Almost in the next breath, the President called upon Secretary Forrestal to organize all reserve units and establish "vigorous and progressive" training programs throughout the country. Furthermore, the directive said the secretary should report substantial progress within 60 days.

Now, up to this point, the reserves have been strictly in third place in the over-all national defense planning. It's no secret. First priority was, of course, given to the regular army. Second went to the National Guard. The reserves were supposed to be in a position to support the first two—according to the plan outlined by Maj. Gen. H. R. Bull last summer.

Actually, General Bull merely was giving voice to a plan which had been in force for some time, although there had been some complaint from reserve leaders.

For one thing, the Army organized reserves maintain a roster of 286,000 officers and 456,000 enlisted men, whereas the National Guard boasts only about 230,000 officers and enlisted men together.

Nevertheless, that was the situation. And even though the Army and Air Force reserves got about one hundred twenty-five million dollars for the current fiscal year, latest reports indicate that they have only about twenty-five per cent of the equipment necessary to operate under the present program.

The Pentagon people know that the President's decision followed the recommendations of various departmental advisers. They know, also, that Governor Dewey follows his advisers, too.

So they're waiting until after the election to squawk!

Farmer's Diary

'Sloppy Farming' Tried

By CALVIN A. BYERS

LAST SPRING, while I was ill, the oldest boy plowed early for our corn, and drilled it in rows. Wet weather set in and for a week each row had water standing in the hollows. The corn came slowly and the weeds did, too. After a few more days we could see the rows across the field, from the kitchen window. Then it rained some more, it frosted, and a hail storm shredded every more promising plant. Weeds started fast, and the dirt was so soft that it was impossible to cultivate it.

We worked with hoes to cut out the grass and weeds between the corn, but it was a monstrous task. Finally, in disgust, we left the poor corn to its fate. It didn't grow half a crop.

We cut the best of it, snatched off the ears from the rest and then began disking down everything—fodder and weeds higher than a boy's head. Back and forth the tractor and disk went, almost hidden by the growth. Crisscross, back and forth again—and again. This was to be our seed bed for wheat.

"You're seeding down your wheat with ragweed for years to come," a village neighbor said, laughing. "Why didn't you burn 'em off, and have your land clean for sowing?"

"You coudn't farm any fields of mine," said another neighbor. "It's sloppy farming when a fellow has to use a disk drill to get his seed into the ground. It never gets in right and only about half will come up."

"That stuff disked under will keep the soil from washing, will act as well as any other crop of "green manure," and will grow wheat, even if it does look like old mortar with hair and bristles sticking up all over," I ventured to declare. "I'm going to fertilize it, lime it, and sow clover in the spring upon the wheat. Sometimes I wonder why we plow at all," I added.

My neighbor made the shrugging outward gesture with both hands that meant "Pfft. What's the use to try to tell some people anything?"

Disagreements are right interesting and valuable. They stimulate thought and discussion. It's a fine practice to read a book you don't believe, or go to hear a lecture that tries to decide a controversy. I guess there may be a time for "sloppy farming," just as there may be "lazy" ways to get things done—for example Tom Sawyer's fence. Just now, though it's raining, the neighbor's field is a delicate even green with new-sprouted wheat—and mine isn't even planted!

Ashland Property Tax Levy Goes Up .2 Mills For '49

ASHLAND—Ashland county's tax levy for general property will increase .2 mills next year, it was indicated today with announcement by county commissioners that the 1949 levy will amount to 2.60 mills as compared with 2.40 for the current year.

The increase was determined by rates established by the budget commission and is the maximum allowed by the ten mill limitation. The new rate is expected to realize $144,300 in taxes.

A decrease of .10 mill from the present .40 mill levy for bond retirement results in a levy of .30 mill for this purpose with an anticipated yield of $16,650. This levy is from outside the ten mill limitation. This decrease makes the increase on all county tax only 1.10 mill, or one cent on $100 property value.

The recently organized unit of Ashland county welfare agencies selected the permanent name of Ashland County Welfare association for the group at its second meeting held at the county children's home this week.

Purpose of the organization is to share experiences and problems among the various welfare groups. Mrs. Martha Jones, case worker for the Aid for the Needy Blind and Aid for Dependent Children, and Wayne Strine, superintendent of the Ashland county children's home and president of the association, outlined the work of their agencies and listed needs for improvement in their particular lines of work.

JOTTINGS IN PENCIL

Two newspapers plan having the city desks—in addition to the drama critics—cover the opening night of the new Moss Hart show. They consider the "true-to-life" portraits of well-known Americans newsworthy. . . .

They say Ty Cobb's next will be his former housekeeper, Lucille La Pointe. . . . Is Helen Keller ailing? . . . A Broadway syndicate is offering Mae West fabulous sums to lend her presence to a down-town nightclub which would be renamed for her if she made the deal. . . .

Jennifer Jones is selling her beautiful Bel Air home as a prelude to marrying David O. Selznick. . . .

Mike Romanoff, the restaurateur "prince," was ordered to pay $5,000 to Mrs. Hanna Hart (of the Hart, Schaffner and Marx clan) for a hip injury she suffered in a fall two years ago in his star-studded joint. . . . Brian Donlevy and Deannie Best are a lovin' duo.

Lois Andrews and Bob Strong, who staged such a stormy split-up recently, are occupying that old familiar corner in the Little club again.

The handsome "mysterious stranger" at Hampshire House—autograph hunters have been mistaking him for Gregory Peck—is Belden Katleman, who owns the fabulous El Rancho Vegas hotel in Las Vagas. (And has even more money than Gregory!. . . .

MGM has laid down the law to Elizabeth Taylor about releasing statements to the press without their approval. Her announcement about her latest romance gave the studio flacks new ulcers. . . .

That was quite a sight at the hot-dog stand on Broadway and 50th the other early morning when a great big Rodeo cowpuncher did away with 72 frankfurters, 26 hamburgers and 14 orange drinks. He wobbled when he walked away, but he still could walk. . . .

Greta Garbo has okayed three movie scripts so far, but work won't start until Walter Wanger is through the New York premiere of "Joan of Arc."

Top best-seller in Sweden is Count Bernadotte's "Instead of Arms," which was published just two days before his murder. . . . A Broadway physician confides that every time a famous show business personality dies unexpectedly, there's a rush of business from actors, musicians, and vaudevillians seeking checkups. The death of Jan Savitt was the most recent to cause that reaction. . . .

Political trend note: The Dewey Dumpling, a dessert at the Fireside Inn, is gaining in popularity. . . . Primo Carnero's manager refuses to allow the giant to shake hands with anyone any more. He just broke the third pal's hand during a warm clasp! . . .

Billy Bloomingdale looks like a Russian count in the movies. He's back from a hunting trip with a 17-day-old beard. . . . Audie Murphy, the most decorated hero of World War II, is getting movie roles in pictures with titles that don't fit his record. First he did "Bad Boy"; now he's set for "Born to Lose."

Take to the cellars, kids! Wild Bill Moore and his sextet are about to introduce a new trend of jazz music that will make B-bop sound like a Viennese waltz.

The big romance of "As the Girls Go"—now in Boston—is Bill Callahan plus Kathryn Lee. . . .

For Thursday, October 28.

ACTIVITIES of a lively and surprising growth or climax could be held up, interrupted or misdirected by false moves, hectic impulses or emotions, together with strife, argument or reckless words. It is possible accident, explosions, or other untoward situation could develop, bringing sorrow, suffering or humiliation. Calm, discreet and considered acts and words could avert trouble and danger. Postpone decisions and operations until more harmonious conditions obtain.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a difficult or unhappy situation in which they may aggravate matters by rash, careless or turbulent conduct. The judgment and emotions may be hectic or explosive, reacting on the affairs disastrously. Strife, arguments, haste or show of "temperament could have most disagreeable reactions on business, domestic matters and even the physical well being. Regrets and humiliation could ensue should rash or wild moods incite to action.

A child born on this day may possess a turbulent and wayward nature, with tense or reckless feelings and emotions. Finding unhappy reactions on business and domestic life.

Laraine Day arranged a special screening of "My Dear Secretary" the other day just so her children could see mamma in the movies. . . . Want to know why Nan Wynn is singing so pretty these nights? Bernie Bernard.

A LITTLE HAT

The fashion for the close-fitting little hat—beret, bonnet turban, toque or cloche—with a dressy suit or more elaborate afternoon dress, has brought a new interest in individual pieces of real or costume jewelry. At a recent fashion show luncheon benefit in New York, it was observed that more than 60% of the smart women in the audience wore jeweled or tailored clips on their small hats and berets. The delicate jeweler-made look of gold or silver pins, often with antique-type filigree set with dewdrops of diamonds or tiny seed pearls, was particularly effective against deep-toned hats of velvet or rich-textured velours. Real diamond clips on velvet are seen at the Colony and other smart restaurants so often that it amounts to a high fashion trend.

Thanksgiving dinner should taste twice as good when served on such an attractive table. Demure Puritan girls and boys, fat pumpkins, gay tom turkeys, luscious grapes and glasses of California wine combine to set the festive scene.

Halloween Fires Should Be Avoided

The danger of setting Halloween bonfires or playing pranks involving fire should be explained to children.

If housewives are in doubt about the safety of their children's cotton costumes, the clothing can be flameproofed easily by rinsing in the following solution: 9 ounces of borax, 4 ounces of boric acid and one gallon of warm water. The fabric should be well saturated, wrung out by hand and hung to dry. This method is effective in stopping flame-spread, but it will not survive laundering.

How Does Your Room Size Up?

How does your bedroom rate? Is your bedding in good condition and does it satisfy your own particular ideas of sleeping comfort? Does the decorative theme inspire a pleasant, restful mood when you walk into the room?

There's no reason why every bedroom can't have a top rating in comfort and eye appeal today. Recent improvements in the construction of mattresses, springs and pillows have resulted in more resilience, greater durability and a wider variety of softness and firmness in bedding than ever before.

Twin beds in a room shared by two provide for more flexible, attractive furniture arrangements as well as for individual sleeping comfort. If the budget is limited, the use of the currently popular headboard beds will eliminate the expense of bedframes.

A host of new fablics, enchanting in color and design, are available for bedspreads and draperies. New wallpaper patterns, too, are ready and waiting to give your room a dramatic background. Good lighting, combination desk-dressing tables, sectional bookshelves and cainets for extra storage, can add to the livability of the bedroom.

If your bedroom is in the drab, ugly duckling class of not too many years ago, it's time for a face-lifting. The bedroom, after all, is the most important room in the house. It is used more than any other room—an average of eight hours a day. If it is not comfortable and pleasant, the quality of your rest will be af-

Carry Out Sandwich Feature Proves Popular

It is an old proverb that "The Best Parties Just Happen" . . . quite frequently groups of folks just come together after the theatre or a dance and decide to stop off at one of the homes for a brief hour's visit— being a good host or hostess, and still foregoing all the extra inconvenience of preparing and serving a lunch, they just phone 2685-4 . . . Bethel's Stadium Inn, out West Fourth St. across from Arlin Stadium and have them prepare sufficient sandwiches, chicken, french fries, milk shakes for their informal gathering. Some member of the family makes the short drive out to Bethel's—the food is ready—brings it home and "Presto" a delightful mid-evening snack is being served at no added or extra work.

Dead Can Aid Living

SAN FRANCISCO — (INS) — A new life-saving technique in surgery, wherein sections of blood vessels are transplanted from the dead to the living, has been revealed as a proven procedure.

Disclosure of the notable medical advance was made by one of the world's foremost authorities on congenital heart ailments, Dr. Robert Edward Gross.

Dr. Gross, professor of children's surgery at Harvard medical school and surgeon-in-chief of Boston's Children's hospital, is in San Francisco to deliver the 1948 Herzstein lectures at Stanford Medical school.

In treating generally fatal arterial stoppages, Dr. Gross revealed he has performed the blood vessel grafting operation on 12 patients, including nine adults and three children, since the first of this year.

All the operations were successful.

Thus far, Dr. Gross is the only one who has employed the method of transplanting blood vessel sections. He said however that there is no reason why the procedure cannot become a standard weapon in the hands of any experienced heart surgeon.

Moreover, he predicted that before many years have elapsed, "blood vessel banks" may become as prevalent as blood and eye banks.

Restaurant Prices at Peak, Owners Agree at State Meet

CINCINNATI —(U.P.)— Ohio restaurant officials agreed Tuesday that the peak in restaurant prices has been reached and that further increases in costs will not be passed along to the customers.

"People can't pay any more," said Ralph R. Smith, Toledo, president of the Ohio State Restaurant association. "Our problem is to cut costs by more efficient operation because we can't pass along any more price rises."

George W. Bailey of Huntington, W. Va., told the restaurant association's annual meeting here that a small family still can eat out cheaper than it can eat at home.

"Mass buying still keeps food costs down to prices where the housewife who doesn't buy in quantity can't compete," the president of the West Virginia State Restaurant association said.

Nilkanth Chavre, of Bombay, India, was the speaker at Tuesday's meeting of the Rotary club, held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Chavre is in the United States as a representative of India in UNESCO, which is devoted to consideration of educational, security and economic problems of the United Nations.

He spoke of past and present conditions in India, with emphasis on the need for recognizing differences in thinking of people in different parts of the world and of the importance for reaching agreements looking toward the establishment and maintenance of friendly relations. It is his impression that Russian communism will never again control in India.

Maurice Taylor, general secretary of the Mansfield YMCA, was program chairman of the meeting and introduced the speaker as greatly interested in Y work in India.

The RECORD Gives The FACTS

The Following Facts Concerning the Office of Prosecuting Attorney Are Supported By Evidence Contained In The Public Records

★

DEMOCRATIC

CIVIL DIVISION

The Prosecutor's office is the legal advisor to all County Officials, Rural and Village School Boards, Township Trustees, Boards of Election and County Public Institutions. The Prosecutor is a member of the County Budget Commission and County Sinking Fund Commission.

These units of local government need prompt, efficient legal advice in order to carry out their duties to YOU as prescribed by law and should not be dependent upon outside sources for their legal advice.

The collection of delinquent taxes is one of the duties of the Prosecutor as the legal advisor to the County Treasurer, Charles Payne.

My opponent, Mr. Theodore Lutz of Shelby, Ohio, (WE ARE NOT RELATED) the present Prosecutor, in 1940 when a candidate for Prosecuting Attorney, said publicly, (Shelby newspaper, November 1, 1940) "I propose to stop wasteful expenditures and I pledge to operate the Prosecutor's office with the help of ONE regular assistant and no SPECIAL ASSISTANTS."

Records of the Clerk of Courts show that in 1947 and 1948 the present Prosecutor in performing but ONE duty of his office, viz.- collecting delinquent taxes, caused an expenditure to the Taxpayers of Richland County in the sum of $5,255.00. This amount was for the employment of an attorney in Mansfield, Ohio (NOT AN ASSISTANT PROSECUTOR) to check the titles of the properties to be sold for delinquent taxes.

This amount for OUTSIDE LEGAL HELP was expended even though the present Prosecutor has at the present time TWO regular, appointed Assistant Prosecutors.

Two years ago, voters of Richland County passed by an overwhelming vote the Bond issue for the erection of a Tuberculosis Sanitarium. Theodore Lutz, as Prosecutor and legal advisor to the Board of Election, was under a duty to see that this bond issue was properly placed on the ballot. This was not done. There was a mistake in the ballot and in order to correct this error, it was necessary to have the Common Pleas Court of Richland County render a decision on the same. A Cleveland Law Firm, Squire, Sanders and Dempsey, was paid $1,000.00 to assist the present Prosecutor in filing this case in the Richland County Common Pleas Court.

In 1941, during my first term as your Prosecuting Attorney, without outside legal help, my office filed a similar case in the Court of Common Pleas of Richland County, being Case No. 25841 - State of Ohio Ex. Rel. Bd. of Education of Plymouth Village School vs. Roy Johnson, President and Joseph Hodges, Clerk. The present Prosecuting Attorney, Theodore Lutz, has a copy of this case on file in his office, and he could have followed that case and in so doing, would have saved Richland County $1,000.00.

OUTSIDE LEGAL HELP TO THE PROSECUTOR'S OFFICE FROM 1945 TO 1948 HAS COST YOU AT LEAST $6,255.00, EVEN THOUGH THE PROSECUTOR'S OFFICE IS COMPOSED OF THREE LAWYERS - THE PROSECUTOR AND TWO REGULAR, APPOINTED ASSISTANTS.

A CANDIDATE IS MEASURED BY HIS RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT AND SERVICE, NOT BY HIS PROMISES.

In 1946 Theodore Lutz expended public funds for the employment of detectives from Cleveland, Ohio to investigate crime in Richland County. This was a needless expenditure of the Taxpayers' money, in view of the fact that the Police Departments of Mansfield and Shelby, the Sheriff's Office of Richland County and the law enforcement agencies of the Villages and Townships all enjoy enviable records of efficient law enforcement.

As your Prosecutor before the war, there was the highest degree of cooperation and harmony between the Prosecutor's office and the Police Departments of Mansfield and Shelby, the Sheriff's office and other law enforcement agencies, which is essential to EFFICIENT law enforcement.

CRIMINAL DIVISION

The function of an honest and able Prosecutor is to lend his support to a law abiding community, and to do this, he must prosecute a case in a firm but fair manner regardless of Race, Color or Creed. Every case must be thoroughly investigated and prepared, and presented in such a way as to convict those guilty of crime and protect the innocent. A conviction of one guilty of crime is a deterrent to others contemplating crime and thus the public receives what the law intends, "The Protection of Your Person and Property."

The record of criminal trials before Juries which my opponent conducted while Prosecuting Attorney resulted in the following:

CONVICTIONS BY JURY—12
ACQUITTALS BY JURY—11

THIS RECORD OF ACQUITTALS IS THE HIGHEST OF ANY PROSECUTOR IN THE PAST 28 YEARS. To analyze this record, one must ask, "Are innocent men being brought to trial and acquitted, or are men, guilty of crime, going free?" It is my honest opinion that a majority of acquittals result from lack of preparation of a case to be tried.

Present juries are no different from those of the past and being composed of law abiding citizens, are for law enforcement. IF THE EVIDENCE PRESENTED BY THE PROSECUTOR WARRANTS A CONVICTION. Juries are the safeguard of our well-being—the safeguard of our freedom.

DANIELS CASE

The crimes of Daniels and West shocked the entire state of Ohio. These "Mad Killers" after a series of robberies in Columbus, Ohio, murdered one, Earl Ambrose, a tavern owner, in the course of a robbery. A WOMAN, AN INNOCENT BYSTANDER, was also shot, in the course of this robbery. There were EYE WITNESSES to this killing and the Columbus police in hot pursuit, knowing the identity of the killers, the make and color of their two-tone Pontiac automobile, sent photographs of the killers and notices to all Police and Sheriffs' departments in the state of Ohio, including the State Patrol. Road blocks were established which resulted in the capture of Daniels and the death of West. This was an efficient example of the agencies which protect your person and property.

The Grand Jury of Franklin County (Columbus, Ohio) immediately indicted Daniels and sent warrants of arrest based on this indictment to the officials holding Daniels after his capture. The Prosecutor of Franklin County INSISTED and PLEADED for the release of Daniels to his county for trial, for the reason that Franklin County's case was the FIRST COMPLETED and they were READY FOR TRIAL. His request was ignored and upon the insistence of Theodore Lutz, your present Prosecuting Attorney, Daniels was released to Richland County for trial, even though at the time of release, Franklin County had INDICTED Daniels and WAS READY FOR TRIAL and RICHLAND COUNTY HAD NO INDICTMENT.

This lack of cooperation with Franklin County by Theodore Lutz cost Richland County many thousands of dollars, (publicly estimated between $10,000 and $15,000). Franklin County had an AIR-TIGHT CASE - EYE WITNESS (NONE IN RICHLAND COUNTY), a COMPLETE RECORD OF HIS PAST, Daniels being a resident of Franklin County, HAD ALL THE FACILITIES, BALLISTIC EXPERTS, PSYCHIATRISTS, WITNESSES, GRAND JURY INDICTMENT and a LARGE, EFFICIENT STAFF of able PROSECUTORS.

Daniels would have been convicted anywhere and received the supreme penalty. Ask yourself - if you were on a jury - would you have acquitted Daniels of his crimes?

I believe this was a costly mistake on the part of my opponent, Theodore Lutz, for he could have done the same as the Prosecutors of the other counties where Daniels committed his heinous crimes, INDICTED Daniels and AWAITED the outcome of the case in Columbus, Ohio. The Law would have been enforced and Richland County spared this needless waste of THOUSANDS OF TAXPAYERS DOLLARS.

A public official is measured not by his EXTRAORDINARY EFFORTS at or near election time, but by his everyday conduct in the office he holds.

MEASURED BY THIS RECORD, DOES MY OPPONENT THEODORE LUTZ OF SHELBY, OHIO DESERVE ELECTION TO THIS HIGH, IMPORTANT OFFICE WHICH IS THE SAFEGUARD FOR THE PROTECTION OF YOUR PERSON AND PROPERTY?

HAROLD LUTZ

BORN IN MANSFIELD, February 22, 1907, Son of Thomas Lutz and Mettie Straub Lutz of Washington Township, who now reside at 357 South Diamond Street, Mansfield, Ohio. Both families have lived in Richland County more than 100 years. Married to Katherine Miller, daughter of Councilman Fred Miller, Sr. of Mansfield, Ohio, with whom they now reside.

EDUCATION - Graduate Mansfield Senior High School 1924 ("M" Association), Ohio University 1929, and Ohio State College of Law 1932. Financed education by employment at Mansfield Tire and Rubber Company and on the farm.

RECORD - Assistant Prosecutor 1935-40.

ELECTED PROSECUTING ATTORNEY 1940 OVER THEODORE LUTZ BY OVERWHELMING MAJORITY

Drafted into Army as a PRIVATE in 1942 when the office of Prosecuting Attorney was declared to be NON-ESSENTIAL TO THE WAR EFFORT. Retained office while in Army by virtue of special Veterans' legislation enacted in 1941 (Section 2397-1 and 2397-2 of General Code of Ohio) for the benefit of public officials serving in the Armed Forces. This law was sponsored by the Republican majority in both houses of the state legislature, passed by overwhelming majorities in both houses and signed by John W. Bricker, then Governor of the state of Ohio. The Supreme court of Ohio, Case No. 29680 decided April 12, 1944, without a dissenting vote, held - (Justice Mathias, Republican, delivering the opinion) "that any holder of public office in Ohio did not forfeit his office by virtue of serving his Country in the Armed Services." P. H. ROGERS, (Republican) State Senator in 1941 for this district, which includes Richland County, and JOHN L. CATLETT, (Republican) Richland County Representative in 1941, voted for this bill.

All these men in High Office favored Veteran legislation, but Theodore Lutz, a Republican, opposed it in 1944 when he was a candidate for the office of Prosecuting Attorney. Theodore Lutz by his criticism contended that I should have resigned my office, but after his election in 1944, HE DID NOT RESIGN HIS OFFICE, GIVE UP HIS LUCRATIVE LAW PRACTICE and ENTER INTO ESSENTIAL SERVICE THAT WOULD PROMOTE THE WAR EFFORT AT A TIME WHEN THOUSANDS OF AMERICAN SOLDIERS WERE FIGHTING THE MOST COSTLY BATTLE OF THE WAR—THE BATTLE OF THE BULGE.

YOUR COUNTRY IN TIME OF WAR NEEDS THE SERVICES OF ALL ITS PEOPLE.

IT IS EASY TO CRITICIZE, BUT DIFFICULT TO PERFORM.

It was a great honor to serve you over four years as a soldier in four major campaigns with the 3rd, 45th, 36th and 12th Armored Divisions. After the armistice in Europe, I was selected to be a Judge and Prosecutor in the Allied Military Court System participating in over 2000 trials.

AFFILIATED with American Legion, Mansfield Lodge, Baku Grotto, Elks, Moose, Sons of Herman, Organized Reserve Corps, Pi Kappa Alpha, Richland County Fish and Game Association and John Todd Park Association.

IF ELECTED for my SECOND TERM, I will endeavor to carry out ALL the duties of this important Office with creditable dignity that will reflect honor upon our community.

I submit my record as a lifelong citizen of our community and ask you to - "Vote just as you would choose your own attorney."

Tractors don't get Aching Backs!

. . . today's Farmers are Men of Steel!

Today millions of American farmers depend upon steel tractors. Tractors that make the plowing easier and the crops larger. Tractors that help produce more food to build a healthier nation, more food for hungry people abroad.

There are already about 3,000,000 steel tractors at work in our fields. Last year from their greatest peacetime production in history, America's steel mills provided the steel to make nearly half a million new tractors for our farmers. And this year the mills are turning out more steel than in 1947.

In supplying steel for better farming, the steel companies make possible:

For You—abundant food for the family table.

For Steel Workers—many thousands of jobs at good wages.

For Everybody—health and continuing progress.

IN THE NEWS . . . Finished steel production in the first half of 1948 amounted to 442 pounds for every person in the country, twice the rate for 1939. Exports amounted to 34 pounds per person in the first half of 1948.

IN THE NEWS . . . Although steel production last year set new peacetime peaks, mill accidents were fewer and less severe than ever before. Only two out of 40 leading industries had fewer accidents than steel per million man-hours worked.

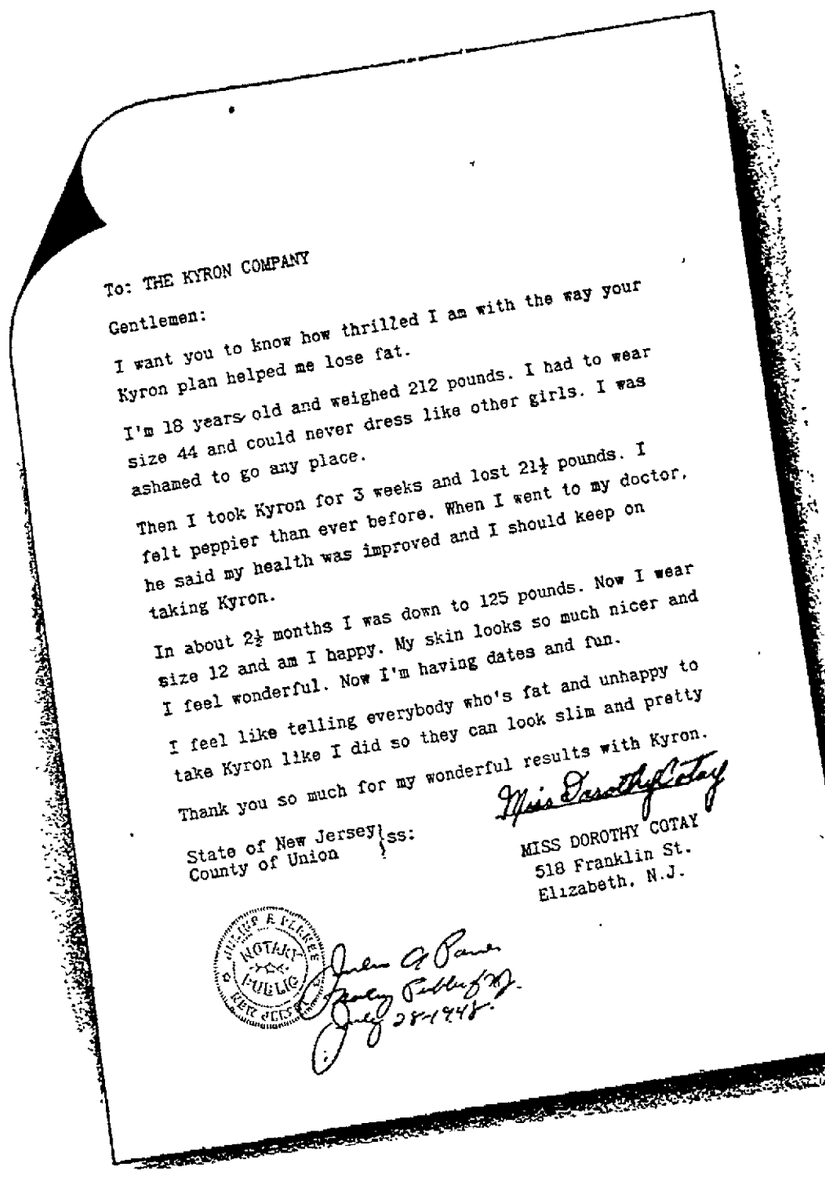
HERE'S NOTARIZED PROOF THAT YOU MAY LOSE UGLY FAT SAFELY!



To: THE KYRON COMPANY

Gentlemen:

I want you to know how thrilled I am with the way your Kyron plan helped me lose fat.

I'm 18 years old and weighed 212 pounds. I had to wear size 44 and could never dress like other girls. I was ashamed to go any place.

Then I took Kyron for 3 weeks and lost 21½ pounds. I felt peppier than ever before. When I went to my doctor, he said my health was improved and I should keep on taking Kyron.

In about 2½ months I was down to 125 pounds. Now I wear size 12 and am I happy. My skin looks so much nicer and I feel wonderful. Now I'm having dates and fun.

I feel like telling everybody who's fat and unhappy to take Kyron like I did so they can look slim and pretty

Thank you so much for my wonderful results with Kyron.

Hopkins 'Slave Labor' Plan For U. S. Patterned After Hitlerism

NEW YORK—Lest we forget, I present herewith the outline of a system of slave labor which Harry Hopkins published in the American magazine for December, 1942. I have referred to this several times but I doubt that I have ever brought out the true Hitlerian ruthlessness and contempt for people which Hopkins threatened to impose on the American people. The fact that he suffered a long time from cancer, which finally killed him, and doggedly carried on his malvolent schemes until he was frustrated by victory in the field, has been offered as an endearing fact.

It should not endear him to any citizen who has the feeling of and for liberty. It only made Hopkins the more dangerous because he could endure agony to try to convert this nation into a reasonable imitation of Hitler's Germany or Stalin's Russia.

Recently Robert E. Sherwood has edited the "Private Papers" of Harry Hopkins which are now issued as another book of the formidable shelf of memoirs and body-snatchings which are compulsory readings for anyone who would like to know what these audacious schemers were plotting against the people of the United States.

In the American magazine article, published in 1942, Harry Hopkins, per ghost, wrote: "We are mobilizing our fighting men. Now we must mobilize our civilians. (Mobilize means form into battalions, capable of moving quickly.) A selective service for war work at home must distribute our man—and women—power fairly firmly and efficiently.

"No American anywhere should be allowed to decide for himself how much he will do or how much he will give (Slavery first) then confiscation of savings and property.

"We must fight total war under government direction with no special favors (such as the airplane trip for Elliott Roosevelt's dog, blaze or Eleanor's frantic career of flights from the far Pacific to London and the political motor-parades for her at home, using thousands of gallons of gas.

We must throw into the war effort every able-bodied man and woman. (Note that both Hopkins and Eleanor emphasized their determination to put women into the service of the state under orders. That is the way to break up the family, to dissipate the morals of normally decent girls and women and accomplish total moral degeneracy.

And then he wrote, this impudent, leering parasite.

"It does mean you for it isn't just talk and it won't blow over.—When (the people) through their chosen representatives, enact the laws that are necessary, workers will go to the spots where they are needed most. No man or woman without good cause will leave a war job for one that pays more. None will strike.

"In every community boards similar to the ration boards and draft boards will be required to select workers and direct them. They will have a tremendous responsibility over the daily lives of every person in the community. They will have to arrange for girls to move from a college in Northampton, Mass., to a nurses' training school in San Diego, transfer a doctor from New York to a doctorless community in Kansas."

Yes? Which doctor? The New Dealer or the avowed anti-Communist opponent of the Roosevelt-Hopkins regime and the New Deal. Do you have to ask?

Perfection Goal Urged By Gheen

Sales Authority Talks to Retailers

An aim for perfection is the greatest need in the world today, James E. Gheen, New York public relations counselor and sales expert, told Mansfield retailers last night.

Gheen addressed about 210 members of the Mansfield Retail Merchants' association and their guests at their annual dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

The speaker said retailing problems and world problems have the same solution

"What man doesn't understand he is generally against," the public relations counselor continued, "so in your stores you should strive to understand the other man and his problems.

"It takes understanding to solve problems, whether they're small or large, in a store or on the world front. Pay more attention to what you don't know than what you do know. Don't guess. If you don't know the answer to a customer's question, say so. Then find out the answer.

UNDERSTANDING URGED

"This aim for perfection, this understanding of the other person's problem, and the ability to see both sides are essential in a business. Make all the friends you can," Gheen advised, "they're the ones who buy."

He stressed the needs for promptness, politeness, and truthfulness in bettering customer-management relations.

W. L. Faulkner, association president, presented a brief history of the merchants' group along with a summary of present activities

Three members of the board of trustees were elected. They are R. M. Calene, manager of the J. C. Penney store; W. J. Toole, manager of the Sears Roebuck store, and John H. Stevens, manager of the Kresge store.

Musical features were presented throughout the evening by Smart's Accordion Trio There was singing before the luncheon

A number of gifts, donated by merchants, were distributed at the conclusion of Gheen's address

A bus was scheduled to leave Republican headquarters at 75 North Walnut street at 4 p m A caravan of cars also will be used for the trip.

Fifty-eight persons went to Cleveland yesterday from Richland county to hear President Truman, Marshall C. Moore, chairman of the county Democratic central committee, reported.

Moore said Robert W. Levering, of Mt. Vernon, the Democratic candidate for congress, and Attorney Robert Drury of Columbus will be the main speakers at two rallies tonight.

Both rallies start at 8 p.m. One will be held in the Ontario high school, while the other will be at the Lexington Town Hall. The Lexington rally is for residents of both Butler and Lexington villages.

Friendliness Seen As Road to Peace

By NITA BRANSON

For an hour yesterday afternoon Nickanth Chavre, a one-man information bureau for the UNESCO from India, sat in the secretary's office at the YMCA and offered a solution to the world problem that parallels closely Christ's Sermon on the Mount.

Understanding and love and kindliness are the things that Chavre thinks will eventually, if practiced long enough and often enough, bring the world to peace.

Chavre, an engineer, author, and lecturer, has spent considerable time in Russia and was in associate of the late Gandhi in India. He conducted a discussion session last night at the YMCA and addressed the Rotary club yesterday noon

Chavre is not a fanatic, neither is he particularly an idealist. He has seen and watched in his own country the theory of love and understanding change Indian communists until there are now only three leaders left.

Frankly and with his carefully correct English, Chavre told what he thinks is wrong with the United State's attitude toward Russia, an attitude, he said, that makes peace difficult. But he didn't say it in a critical way. He has great admiration for the United States. But he has encompassed the world situation at least in his thoughts, to such an extent that he can see, from a wide and unprejudiced perspective, the things which he believes Americans can't see.

"You think in terms of military power," he said "We in India have no military power. Sometimes it is gracious to be humble as long as you have power."

Chavre thinks if we talked as much about peace as we do about war, we would not live in constant fear of war.

Chavre pointed out that Russia is just as fearful of our expansion as we are of Russia's

"During the recent talk when Vishinsky asked for two-thirds reduction in armament, it was your chance to do something. If Marshall had stood up and said, 'Now you're talking in my language. Show us what to do' we should have called the Russians' bluff and really accomplished something. But you lost that chance," he declared

The Russian people are our friends, he reiterated more than once. If we misunderstand them then we are misunderstanding our friends, he said.

Chavre thinks we used Russia during the war to defeat Germany, we used Russia as a stepping stone, now she is reacting belligerently and we don't know what to do about it.

"None of us knows what to do about it," he declared. 'We believe in God, in family and in possessions just as you Americans do, but we don't know what to do.

Citing Ghandi, with whom he worked for four years, as the perfect example of understanding and love, Chavre said, "We won our independence by Gandhi's method. We've got to spread that understanding throughout all the nations if we want peace."

Although there are 169,000,000 Russian people who do not believe in communism, they will never revolt, Chavre said, because conditions might be worse and they're bad enough now.

It's too late now, Chavre thinks, for us to pull out of Berlin.

"Six months ago, perhaps, it would have been the thing to do. Now it is too late," he declared. "The western powers and the Russian people are looking to us as a sort of bulwark"

There are two things Russia wants to know about us, Chavre said She wants to know how much America wants to spread Americanism and, if Russia were to withdraw from Berlin, just how much America would help the empire builders.

Fire Scare In City

A smoke scare at the apartment house, 96 East Fourth street, owned by E. G. Canterbury, at 10.45 p m yesterday, brought firemen from Central and No. 2 stations Firemen reported no fire.

Bands Work Hard, Too

Drill For Simpson, Appleseed Game

When Johnny Appleseed meets John Simpson in football tonight, rivalry between bands and majorettes will be as keen as the competition between the grid teams.

Backing their school teams with all they have, musically, both bands have promised some outstanding demonstrations during the half.

The 48 band members at Appleseed and the 40 at Simpson together with their corps of baton twirlers have been practicing hard for the past two weeks, for tonight's game—the big game of the season.

Although neither Donald Tennant, band leader at Simpson, nor Miss Jean Worley, who directs the musicians at Appleseed, wanted to divulge their entire plans for tonight, they hinted that there'd be "something out of the ordinary."

For instance Tennant has taken the current political theme and woven it into a motivated rally, with the usual enthusiasm that accompanies a major convention.

Miss Worley has taken her original idea from the skies. In each case, the band and majorettes will stilute the "enemy" team, beginning the game with a joint flag-raising ceremony

Appleseed majorettes took twirling lessons from Devon Kesling, Ohio State's famed drum major.

Laff-A-Day . . . .

Reserve Unit Host To Visitors

Scores See Training Center

The United States put its peacetime fleet on display in scores of ports today as the country paid tribute to the Navy on its 173rd birthday.

In Mansfield, scores of persons visited the Naval Reserve Training center on Ashland road, which has been holding open house all this week in honor of Navy day

Last night, members of Navy Mothers' club heard Mrs. Edna Watrous, of Akron, state organizer, deliver an address at the Salvation Army under the auspices of the Home league.

In some 1,500 communities patriotic and civic groups scheduled special ceremonies commemorating that day in 1775 when the founding fathers laid the basis for today's powerful armadas—a bill put before the Continental Congress to make ships available for the defense of the colonies.

NEW CRUISERS READY

Emphasizing recent changes in America's warships was today's Navy announcement that an entirely new class of heavy cruisers will be commissioned next month.

The 17,000-ton super-heavy cruiser, the USS Des Moines, is the first American ship to mount completely automatic, rapid-fire eight-inch guns and will join the fleet in mid-November from the Bethlehem Steel company's Fore River shipyard, Quincy, Mass.

Announcement of the Des Moines' commissioning came as the need for fighting world communism and keeping possible war distant from the United States keynoted Navy day speeches throughout the country.

The Navy revealed that eight-inch gun batteries on the Des Moines are capable of firing at battle ranges approximately four times faster than any guns of the same or larger caliber.

The only cruisers in the world heavier than the new ship are the three 27,500-ton battle cruisers of the Alaska class, which compare in size to Germany's 26,000-ton cruiser-line battleships, the Gneisenau and Scharnhorst.

Dr. Black Heads Board

Dr. R. R Black was elected unanimously last night as chairman of the city board of health and chairman of the city and county boards of health when they act on joint matters.

Dr. Black was appointed to the board last month by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn after James F. Carrigan, former chairman, resigned. The new chairman, who will serve until December, 1949, has had long experience on the board as a member of that organization from 1929 to 1947.

The city and county boards, meeting jointly, approved a revision in the communicable disease regulations so that they will conform with new health practices as recommended by the state health department and other medical bodies.

The regulations are being forwarded to the Richland County Medical society for its endorsement.

The county board also accepted the resignation of Nurse Betty Pfifer of Ashland, commending her as "one of the finest we had in the department." She had been with the department three years, prior to which she was an Army nurse.

Rites Set For Soldier

Reburial services for Pfc. Herman L. Jaynes, formerly of Mansfield, will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. in Pomeroy. Burial will be in Beech Grove cemetery at Pomeroy.

He was killed in France, July 3, 1944, while serving with the 82nd airborne division of the 508th parachute infantry.

Pfc. Jaynes was born Feb. 16, 1921 at Blair, W Va., and entered the service Oct 30, 1942.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs Fannie Jaynes, 338 Newman street, five sisters, Mrs Floyd Cottrell and Mrs Glenn Thompson of Pomeroy, Mrs Dorothy Arnett Mrs Harvey Letts, and Mrs. Roy Reber, of Mansfield; two brothers, John and Paul Jaynes, of Pomeroy, and one daughter, Ginger, of Mansfield.

900 See Jaycee-Sponsored Stage Shows at Senior High

About 900 Mansfielders saw the Skitch Henderson stage show last night in Senior high auditorium. Two shows were presented, and officials of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the entertainment, said the organization "broke even" on the show.

The stage entertainment, "The Best Is Yet to Come," featured some of the country's outstanding vaudeville acts and was described as one of the best stage shows ever to play here.

Ten acts were featured with the Henderson band. Highlighting the show were "Little Walter," a comedian who plays more than a dozen musical instruments, and Glenn Gregory with his ventriloquist dummy, Micky O'Day.

Nancy Reed and Andy Roberts were vocalists with the band, getting good "hands" from the audiences.

Jaycee members said they were disappointed at the small crowds, since the entertainments were designed to build up the organization's charity and relief fund.

Appleseed and Simpson Battle for Title

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

FROM THE MAIL BAG:

Dear Fred:

In reply to your comments about the Massillon-Mansfield football series.

You said the fans have a defeatist attitude about the game. How about you?

You have been telling in the paper for two weeks that the Tygers were going to lose by at least 13 points. I don't suppose the players read the sport page, do they?

As for the game itself it looked to me and several thousand others like Mansfield just up and quit when Massillon got ahead of them. If they have no more fight than that, they ought to get beat.

They were doing all right up until they fumbled the ball which can happen to any team. But as soon as the Tigers scored the second time, they looked like a bunch of beaten pups. Maybe they were thinking of those 13 points you were talking about.

If you expect the common fans to stay behind the team, the paper and the team itself had better do a little about it too.

A team that gives up can't expect much support and can't expect to beat the teams worth beating.

If they want to play big time football, they have to have the fight and ambition to win from the best the state has. The material is there. What is the matter with the spirit and the will to win. I thought that was part of the coaches' job to instill that spirit and will to win. If Augie can't, get someone who can. The fans can't do it all, you know.

Beat Hamilton and show the fans it can be done.

Print this if you want to. If not, shut up about the fan spirit.

A Tyger fan,
JIM M'DONALD

(Editor's note: We should fluff this off with no comment. But one thing, Jim. Every news story on the game gave the Tygers a chance. And the 13-point prediction in the Cuff Stuff column did not appear two weeks before the game. It was printed the day of the game and we doubt if many of the players get a chance to read the paper Friday afternoons.)

Funeral Today For Cleveland Vice President

CHICAGO (INS)—Funeral services are to be held in Chicago today for Harry Grabiner, Cleveland Indians vice president who died following an operation to remove a brain tumor.

Dr. Louis L. Mann, rabbi of the Sinai congregation, will preside.

Grabiner, a former Chicago White Sox official entered major league baseball at the age of 13. When he died at the age of 57 he was ranked only by Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics and Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators in length of service to the American league.

Grabiner left the Sox in 1915 to run the Indians.

Undefeated Pioneer 11 Is Favored

This is the day for all good junior high school students to stand up and cheer!

This is the day — and tonight is the game — when the Johnny Appleseed Pioneers go after sweet revenge at the expense of defending champion John Simpson.

The long-awaited climatic finish to the junior high football season is set for 8 p. m. at Arlin field with Appleseed out to break the long domination of the Fourth street school.

WINS SIX GAMES

Simpson has won six of the eight games between the schools including those of the past two years but Coach Johnny Lymper's Pioneers are rated heavy favorites tonight. Appleseed swept easily through the seven games on its regular schedule while the best Simpson could do was win two of five.

A crowd of probably more than 5,000 persons is expected to witness the event which also includes the most spectacular halftime show ever attempted by junior highs. Both schools will have bands and a corps of majorettes taking part in the show.

Pep meetings and rallies are scheduled through the day at both schools, and tension is at fever pitch as always in the case of the city championship contest.

Probable lineups:

Simpson (M.U.)	Pos.	(W.L.)	Appleseed
Lou Rife (140)	LE	(130)	J. Diemer
Kocur (150)	LT	(170)	Yeager

READY FOR PIONEERS—Bob Mathews, 110-pound John Simpson quarterback, is ready to lead his team into action against Johnny Appleseed tonight. The two junior high school teams will clash in their annual city championship battle at 8 p. m. at Arlin field. (News-Journal staff photo)

Louis Signed For Cleveland Exhibition

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Jimmy Bivins, the man who many thought would someday become the world heavyweight boxing champion, gets his big chance Nov. 17 in Cleveland.

But a long shot it will be for the ex-duration heavyweight king who will be battling title-holder Joe Louis in a six-round exhibition that date.

The title can change hands only if the former "Black Beauty" can kayo the champ or at least stop him. If the bout goes the limit, there will be no decision.

HEAVY GLOVES

With both men using extra-heavy gloves, any form of knockout appears unlikely.

Bivins signed yesterday in Cleveland to meet Louis. A return bout clause was inserted in the contract to protect Louis should he lose the title.

Bivins, rated the land's top heavyweight during the war years, went into a slump following a short hitch in the service. He dropped a close decision to Ezzard Charles, one of the top contenders for Louis' crown, in his latest bout.

At Last-Ticket Scalping Illegal

BALTIMORE Md. (UP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro was expected to lose little time today in signing a bill to outlaw the sale of football tickets for more than their face value.

The bill was passed by the city council last night and sent to the mayor after council vice-president William J. Muth declared that ticket scalpers were selling tickets to this Saturdays Notre Dame-Navy game at exorbitant prices.

Bucks Hold Secret Drills As Wes Works on Defense

COLUMBUS—(AP)—On the theory that he has something to hide, Coach Wesley Fesler is going to keep practice sessions for his Ohio State university football squad somewhat secret this week.

The boys are preparing for Saturday's game at Northwestern, and Fesler said everybody must stay away from the practice field except the press and radio people. That chases off students, high school athletes and coaches, and varsity "O" men who always have been allowed on the sidelines.

SOME NEW PLAYS

In this semi-privacy, the squad tried some new plays he hopes to spring on Northwestern, but spent most of the afternoon drilling on defense. The Buckeye defense wasn't too much in the team's 34-32 victory over Wisconsin last Saturday.

The No. 1 backfield of the freshman team, consisting of Bill Peterson of Cleveland, Vic Janowicz of Elyria, Bob Morris of Columbus, and Skippy Doyle, ran Northwestern plays for the varsity to stop.

Fesler says he plans to use Dick Widdoes of Columbus whenever he can on defense for Halfbacks Alex Verdova of Lakewood and Mike Cannavino of Cleveland. The idea is to give Verdova and Cannavino as much rest as possible for offensive work.

Heavy Winter Fight Card Is Announced

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(INS)—The tournament of champions, announced plans today for a full winter season of boxing including matches with an important bearing on every division.

The middleweight title bout between Ray Robinson and Steve Belloise at Jersey City Dec. 2 is the next immediate objective of the T. of C.

At least eight more indoor matches are planned by the promotors before hitting the outdoor championship trail with Marcel Cerdan in June. Already plans are under way for the following six bouts:

1. An over-the-weight fight for Cerdan in January against an opponent to be selected.

2. A welterweight title match between Robinson and Charley Fusari, who stopped Tippy Larkin last week.

3. A lightweight championship bout between Ike Williams, the titleholder, and Willie Pep, the featherweight king.

4. Gus Lesnevich-Freddie Mills light-heavyweight title match.

6. Rinty Monaghan versus Dado Marino for the flyweight championship of the world.

Bears and Cards Laugh at Plight Of Poor Rockets

CHICAGO — (INS) — Officals of Chicago's two National Football league teams today scoffed at a suggestion that they be pooled with the Chicago Rockets of the rival All-America conference.

The suggestion came from Adm. Jonas Ingram, commissioner of the A. A. C., who pointed out in New York that Chicago cannot reasonably be expected to support three professional football teams.

"That's right," a spokesman for the Chicago Bears said. "Chicago can't support three teams. Goodbye Rockets."

A Chicago Cardinals official said:

"The Bears made money last year and the Bears will make money this year. The Cardinals made money last year and the Cardinals will make money this year.

"Look at the National Football league standings."

The Bears and Cards are tied for the western division lead in the N. F. L.

Full Schedule Awaits Mansfield Area Pigskin Aggregations Starting Tonight

By CHARLEY STINE

The fullest week of the football season — as far as Mansfield and area fans are concerned — begins with the John Simpson-Johnny Appleseed junior high game tonight.

With a teachers' conference having pushed many games up to Thursday, top-notch football attractions are on tap for every night from now through Saturday.

Four of the area's undefeated gridiron aggregations will be in action tomorrow with one string bound to come to an end.

BOTH UNDEFEATED

Loudonville and Orrville, boasting perfect records in six games each will collide head-on under the Loudonville lights. The teams are two of the lightest in the area but both have fine speedy backfield units. Orrville depends considerably on short, jump passes while Loudonville's quick-open-plays are its best.

Records against common foes show the teams to be closely matched. Orrville was leading Madison, 19-12, when the lights failed in the fourth quarter; Loudonville beat the Rams, 19-6. Rittman, the other common opponent, went down before Orrville, 33-0, and bowed to Loudonville, 27-6.

Bellville's powerful Blue Jays go after victory No. 7 at home with Cardington as the opposition.

Another important tilt is set for Upper Sandusky where Bucyrus will attempt to clinch the Northern Ohio league championship. A victory for the high-scoring Redmen would put them two games up on Crestline and Upper with one league game to go.

Other games tomorrow will find Willard at Crestline, Mt. Gilead at Marysville and Lorain St. Mary's at New London.

TYGERS IN LIGHT

Friday Senior high will hold the spotlight by being host to Dayton Kiser, a team which was supposed to be a post-Massillon breather but has turned into a toughy. Kiser is high while Mansfield is crippled for the fray.

The Tygers may suffer a natural let-down the week after the "big game" while Kiser is hot after its fourth Dayton championship. Kiser won its first three league games. Adding to the Mansfield woes is the condition of Bernie Weaver and Tommy Tucker, neither of whom are likely to be in shape to play Friday.

Friday will be Mom's and Dad's night at Arlin field. The parents of the players will come in for special tribute but the half-time program will honor all of the moms and dods in the stands.

The parents will be introduced preceding the game. The dads will sit on a special bench on the field and wear numbers corresponding to those of the players. The moms will get a special corsage from the Tyger club but will sit in their regular seats.

Other games Friday include a pair of Northern Ohio league games Shelby at Norwalk and Bellvue at Galion—and one non-league tilt, Wooster at Mt. Vernon.

Madison will stage another of its Saturday night games with Delaware Wills as the opposition.

Delaware was belted by Bexley high, a large Class A school, by a 13-0 count last week, while Madison was losing to unbeaten Mt. Vernon, 19-13.

Hamilton Willing to Play Anyone For State Crown

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Possibility of a post-season game for the Ohio high school football championship popped up today.

It all came about because Hamilton—everyone in town, it seems—believes the Big Blue of Butler county is the best team in the state, regardless of how the sports writers rate the "big ten."

After ratings were announced yesterday, with Hamilton slipping from a first place tie into the third spot behind Canton McKinley and Alliance, Butler county "hit the roof."

OFFICE FLOODED

The Columbus bureau of the Associated Press was flooded with telegrams and telephone calls as the southwesterners wanted to know "how do you get that way?"

Each week the top ten teams are rated by sports writers of the Ohio Associated Press papers, 10 points being awarded for a first place vote, nine for second, etc., with the Associated Press tabulating the totals.

As a result of this week's ratings the following telegrams were received from Hamilton.

From Arthur F. Miller, president of Catham A. C.: "We protest most vigorously the Ohio high school rating which has just been released placing Hamilton high school in third position. We feel that such rating is a slur against the city of Hamilton, its citizens, and especially the Big Blue team. Respectfully."

MANY OTHERS

That's just two of the storm of protests from down Butler county way. Middletown, just up the road from Hamilton, was placed fourth in the poll, giving Butler county two of the top five spots, and Stark county three as Massillon's once-beaten Tigers assumed fifth place.

Alliance and Canton McKinley meet Friday night, and one of them must fall. Hamilton may go through the season unbeaten, unless Middletown trips the Big Blue in the final game of the campaign, but there will be several clean record teams at the finish.

Perhaps a post-season scrap, on a neutral field, between the two top-rated teams would settle the state title race beyond all doubt.

HAMILTON WILLING

"Chuck" Thackara, Hamilton coach, in response to a query from the Associated Press, said:

"Should both Hamilton and Canton McKinley finish undefeated, and a post-season game would decide the state championship, Hamilton would definitely be interested. Approval of our athletic board would be necessary, but such approval is probable."

If Alliance upsets the Bulldogs Friday night, the Aviators would naturally move into the title picture in place of McKinley. At least 20 Buckeye teams are unbeaten and untied, but any post-season tilt probably would be between the two rated as "tops" by the sports writers.

H. W. Emswiler, state high school athletic commissioner, said such post-season games were okay if sponsored by the schools and played on or before Nov. 27.

Several years ago Toledo Waite won such a post-season tilt from Portsmouth, 9-7, in Ohio State stadium, but the university now has a rule against similar contests according to Athletic Director Dick Larkins. A place to play the game, however, would be a minor detail if the teams can get together, and what a crowd it should attract.

Grid Attendance Up

NEW YORK — (UP) — College football attendance is up two per cent over last season, a United Press survey of 69 major colleges in every section of the nation revealed today.

Ohio Colleges Are Feudin' And a Fightin'

CINCINNATI —(INS)— Football coaching officials at the University of Cincinnati and the basketball coach at Miami university smarted today under charges of unsportsmanlike conduct.

The athletic officials at the two schools were blasted in a speech delivered yesterday afternoon before 135 members of the Xavier Musketeers club at a luncheon in Cincinnati.

The charges were hurled by Harry Baujan, athletic director at Dayton university.

Baujan said that as an aftermath of the Dayton-Cincinnati game last year he was threatened with a punch in the nose by three members of the Cincinnati team and coaching staff.

He said the threat was delivered by Cincinnati's head coach, Ray Nolting, former Chicago Bear star, Line Coach John "Socko" Wiethe and Team Halfback Alkie Richards.

To his list of poor sportsmen, Baujan added W. S. "Blue" Foster, head basketball coach at Miami university.

On the other hand, Baujan found it "always a treat to play against Xavier university Musketeers as Head Coach Ed Kluska is always a gentleman on or off the field."

The University of Dayton and the University of Cincinnati severed relations after last year's game.

Johnny Neun Back In Yankee System

NEW YORK — (AP) — Johnny Neun, former major league player and manager, is back with the New York Yankees organization in the role of a scout.

Neun, who starred at first base for the Detroit Tigers, and later managed the Cincinnati Reds, as well as several minor league clubs in the Yankee chain, was signed yesterday to do some "personalized scouting" within the major leagues. He formerly served with the Yankees from 1932 through 1946.

Nevada Tops All Colleges In Offense

NEW YORK—(AP)—California, Notre Dame and Army have strengthened their positions among the leading offensive teams on the nation's collegiate gridirons but they still have a long way to go it they are to overtake high-flying Nevada.

The Nevada Wolfpack, with the help of a great passer and a so-and-so schedule, rolled merrily along at the head of the offensive standings released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, leading all other teams in both forward passing and total offense.

Clinging to second place in the ratings based on both rushing and passing was little Miami university of Oxford, O., unbeaten but once-tied. And following them in order were California, Notre Dame and Army—all moving up a notch from the previous week.

REWRITES RECORDS

Nevada maintained its lofty position on the spectacular passing of Stan Heath, who is virtually certain to rewrite the record books with his aerial game before the season ends.

In winning all five of its games to date, Nevada has piled up 2,940 yards by rushing and passing, an average of 498 yards per game. Of that total, 1,439 of Nevada's yards have come through the air.

Miami has averaged 422.6 yards per game, California 401, Notre Dame 395.2 and Army 389.

A pair of noticeable absentees on the top 15 offensive teams are Michigan and North Carolina, ranked first and third in the Associated Press weekly poll. Michigan was the offensive leader in the country last year. At this point in the 1947 season, the Wolverines were averaging 436.6 yards per game. To date this season they have averaged 286.4, although their won-lost record is the same.

SET NEW MARKS

The Wolfpack not only is the passingest team in the country, but its 65-14 shellacking of Tulsa last Saturday set a new high in aerial performance. Together, the two teams threw 81 passes, a new college record for a single game. Nevada's total of 25 completed passes also was a new mark, as was the total of 44 completions by two teams.

Although Notre Dame didn't move up, the Irish threaten to do so if they keep up the pace of their last three games.

Billy Meyer, Manager of Year

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Pie Traynor, Adam (Bill) Meyer, Joe was voted the Manager of the Year in a poll of baseball writers conducted by the Associated Press.

The 51-year-old pilot of the Pirates received 15 of the 24 votes cast by a group of baseball writers representing each National league city. Boston Braves manager Billy Southworth received the other nine votes.

Piles Are Never "Mild"
DANGER IN NEGLECT
No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves: instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability

Primitive Equipment of 1775 Contrasted With Today's Power

Navy Day Recalls Past History of U. S. Sea Force

By JOHN PETERSEN
(Central Press Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — Today the United States Navy celebrates its 173rd birthday as the most powerful sea striking force on the face of the globe.

However, it was not always thus.

Today the Navy—and the nation—eagerly awaits building of the fantastic 124-million-dollar, 65,000-ton aircraft carrier designed to haul the heaviest of planes and, perhaps, even the atomic bomb.

To such lengths has the Navy progressed since those bungling days in 1775 when no one knew whether the first tiny flame for freedom would be obliterated by a royal blast from King George III.

How familiar today's jet aircraft, torpedo bombers, majestic aircraft carriers, swift cruisers, high-speed submersibles. How different the humble beginnings.

How many Americans know, for instance, that the first sea battle of the Revolution was fought by a crew of lumberjacks under the leadership of Jeremiah O'Brien?

Wood-chopper O'Brien and his crew took on a British armed schooner refused to fight, O'Brien weeks after the Battle of Lexington, and—stranger than fiction—came out with a victory.

The schooner had been sent to Machias in Maine by British General Gates to commandeer a load of lumber for the Red Coat garrison in Boston.

O'Brien defied the British to take the lumber and when the scheener refused to fight, O'Brien and the woodsmen followed it in a vessel piled high with lumber to the mouth of the harbor.

There the British warship loosed a broadside at the Americans with its cannon. However, the Americans had made good use of the lumber, piling it high along the gunwales for protection.

The colonists replied with musketfire and sharp marksmanship, riddling the British as they attempted to fire their heavy arms.

Finally, O'Brien and his loggers boarded the British ship and, armed with axes, rifle butts and pitchforks, cut King George's flag from the mast and ran up a strange new flag.

It was a white flag on which a green pine tree stood above the legend—"An Appeal to Heaven." Thus was the first American naval victory.

Some months later George Washington, acutely short of cannon, powder and other war-making materials, vainly appealed for a vessel to go to Bermuda to pick up the much-needed material.

When nothing was done, Washington himself recruited a half-dozen small vessels to privateer and raid enemy shipping in Massachusetts bay.

"JUST BEGUN TO FIGHT"—John Paul Jones (top center) shouts defiance to the Serapis, British man-o'war, from deck of Bon Homme Richard.

"MOSQUITO FLEET"

This mosquito fleet, armed with four to six small guns on each ship, produced amazing results by capturing a British supply ship with its store of military goods and at least 13 other small enemy transports.

The Tories might laugh and jibe at the half-dozen ship "fleet," but history records that through its efforts, Washington was supplied with enough cannon and powder to fight his way through the winter and mount the spring offensive which won Boston.

It was not until December of 1775 that John Adams, the "father of the Navy," as chairman of the Marine committee helped push a bill through the Continental Congress calling for 13 American warships "and the Navy of the united colonies."

The Navy actually was granted four warships and $100,000—and there was a catch even in that award. The ships were on paper and the money had to be raised!

To add to the difficulties, not a single sailing vessel was under construction in America, nor was any shipyard equipped to build one.

So the committee did what it could—it converted cargo carriers into warships, picking up armament piece by piece from other merchantmen in harbors along the coast.

Against four warships and four escort vessels—the original American Navy—was ranged the royal navy of Great Britain—at that time the world's greatest and mightiest!

Yet, small as it was, the American fleet won victories against tremendous odds—and then after the Revolution the Navy was disbanded! The Navy department was not organized until April 30, 1798. At the time there were three frigates and three more on paper.

The so-called "XYZ" affair with France, in which Talleyrand demanded payment from American representatives before he would agree to see them, set the nation's blood boiling. Under the slogan "millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute," Americans rallied to the cause of a strong navy.

It would be pleasant, but highly inaccurate, to say that from that time on the country remained aware of the necessity of having a strong Navy in peacetime as well as war.

Unfortunately, the trend seems to have been on de-emphasis of the naval branch of the service after each war. After World War I, for instance, the United States went ahead and sank or otherwise destroyed nearly two million tons of naval vessels, including 31 capital ships.

This gesture toward world peace, however, only succeeded in giving other foreign powers an opportunity to attempt to surpass the United States naval might. It was probably one of the major contributing factors to the holocaust at Pearl Harbor.

That is why after World War II the United States has decided to keep its mighty fleet. Actually, it's just about one-eighth as strong on paper today as it was at the height of its power during the war.

SHIPS STORED

However, the remainder has not been sunk or destroyed. It is being kept under mothballs, in storage, where it can be put back into use in short order if another world emergency arises.

Meanwhile, emphasis is being put on the Navy's air arm. In addition to the projected construction of the world's mightiest aircraft carrier, the Navy is stressing the need for vital aircraft itself.

For years the New York Stock Exchange has urged investors to get the facts; to base their judgment only on dependable information. This means—know your securities! It also means—know your broker! Your broker should be far more than merely an agent for the purchase or sale of securities. As a businessman whose relationships with clients are close and highly professional... as the trusted custodian of securities... as one whose experience and judgment are drawn upon constantly... he should be a man of unquestioned integrity and responsibility. In fact, your broker should meet all the following tests:

1. INTEGRITY . . . This is the first essential for membership in the New York Stock Exchange. Only those who meet exacting standards can qualify.

2. HIGH STANDARDS OF BUSINESS CONDUCT . . . Members and partners of Member Firms of the Exchange agree to conduct their affairs in accordance with a code of self-regulation unsurpassed anywhere for strictness. These Exchange rules cover, among a great many other things, the amount of capital to be maintained . . . disclosure to customers of the Firm's financial condition . . . plus specific requirements for handling customers' orders and securities. The purpose of all these rules is clearly stated in the Exchange's constitution: "To maintain high standards of commercial honor and integrity."

3. PROFESSIONAL SERVICE . . . Through more than 1500 offices, located in nearly 400 communities from coast to coast, Member Firms offer investors an efficient and thoroughly professional service. Whatever the investor's needs—research, consultation, handling of orders or information about opening an account—his requirements are met by trained personnel. Representatives of Member Firms who handle customers' accounts are registered with the Exchange and each new registrant must pass a searching examination as to character, experience and competence.

These facts, we believe, demonstrate the importance of knowing your broker. They also indicate some of the many positive advantages of doing your investment business with a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange.
